Don't forget we need your articles. Truthseekers magazine is a non-profit organisation. We plough all money back into research costs, for things such as petrol costs and photographs. We always spend more than we make - and perhaps, in a perverse world, this is how it should be?

EDITORIAL

Hello. Thanks for buying us... You will go to heaven! In this months edition we have some interesting stories from around the globe. Starting with a sinister report on an American Ufologist who was murdered under very suspicious circumstances. Thankfully we don't get to hear too much of this - or perhaps the deaths are made to look like suicides - who knows...

We have a report on Crop Circles from two dedicated researchers from Sussex. We hope to feature more from the Pardoe school in future editions. I choose to play the awkward one, and do a follow up article on the trials and pitfalls of unscientific research. This, to me, does not affect the work of all researchers but certainly there are some out there who need to take heed of my message - science means science, not pseudo-science...

We have an interesting HARDCORE report on Underground Tunnels in the United States. These tunnels are supposed to exist all over the world and whilst I have heard sketchy reports of similar subterranean/alien hideouts here in the UK, I have never been near one, nor seen the aliens. I live in hope - and welcome information from anyone who may know of leads to follow up on this story. I do take these reports seriously because of the weight of evidence I have read and heard (sometimes first hand!).

Our resident alien, Jonathan Hurst gives us his insights into alien intervention and mythological tales which are based thereupon. Jonathan has also introduced us to a friend of his Janice X who debuts for the first time in print with an article on her experiences with Greys and her empathy which makes her believe she has a connection with them. As I always say, there are a lot of people out there who feel this way - it takes for these to come forward and tell of their experiences and network so that we can all learn about our possible alien heritage...

There is much to see in the News Desk this month along with a special news item from Richard Conway of BUFORA on sightings which have been happening over Spain.

I have been asked recently, who does the artwork on the front cover. Usually I compose the pictures myself on the PC using Photoshop. They look 100% better in colour and on the screen than they do printed out. This is because of the rather "lossy" lazer printing process and then the photocopying. Perhaps one day we will be printed in colour and then we can really go to town! In this months magazine artwork has been supplied by Daryl Smith and Simon Davies (cartoon).

There are those out there who love to pick me up on my spelling mistakes, and this month you will probably have a field day. I was so rushed to get the magazine out that it has not been checked thoroughly. I apologise for any goofs in advance...

Thanks for reading and see you next month... Matthew

ERRATA:

In last months edition we featured an article by Jonathan Hurst entitled: Ets, Ufology & Ancient History. Corrections are given below.

PAGE1: Para 5, line 7: Should have been MAYANS instead of MAYWIS.

PAGE2: Para 8, line1: "leave" should have been "have"

Para 9, line 4: Should have read "An indication of this is our great diversity in appearance and culture."

PAGE4: Para2, line 3: "Another supernova remnant is the Veil Nebula in Cygnus, estimated to have exploded over 50,000 years ago."

Para 3, line 1;"About 68,000 years ago the Earth was involved in an interplanetary catastrophe."

PAGE5: Para 6, line 1: "What I have described above is but a mere fraction of our ancient history, although an important part because of the karmic repercussions can still be felt today."

MOD WITHDRAWS NEW DOCUMENT FROM THE PUBLIC RECORDS OFFICE

After spending two days at the Public Records Office in Kew, London we have discovered that the document used on an episode of the BBC programme 'Out Of This World' featuring researcher Nick Redfern, has been withdrawn by the Ministry of Defence.

The document (AIR 2 16918, reference # 21457272), that was declassified in March of this year, relates to a UFO event back in the 1960's that was investigated by the RAF's Provost and Security Service who are now based at RAF Rudloe Manor, where it is alleged that UFOs have been investigated for a number of years. Though the Ministry have admitted that Rudloe Manor was the RAF's co-ordination point for UFO sightings, they have denied that anyone from there have investigated UFO sightings at any time. The document discovered by Nick Redfern proves otherwise and therefore has caused enough concern by people at the Ministry to request for it to be withdrawn.

Such an incident makes a mockery of the Public Records Office and the statements by people such as ex MoD Air Secretariat Nick Pope, who says that there is no UFO cover up by the MoD as they are just not interested in the matter. We will have more on this matter soon in Truth Seekers.

GULF BREEZE UFO SIGHTINGS

Sightings of UFOs have continued to be reported around Gulf Breeze by local residents and sky-watchers at Shoreline Park. Recent sightings occurred on July 24th, August 6th (two separate sightings reported) and August 10th, that consisted of a variation of different lights ranging from the usual bright white light (July 24th), to what the witness on August 6th described as what looked "like a plate held vertically or like a wagon wheel in the sky". This witness also reported seeing through binoculars what may have been a blue beam shoot out from the UFO.

The UFO seen by two sky-watchers at Shoreline Park on August 10th was a long thin cigar shaped object that was about two inches long at arm's length and was, according to the witnesses statement, "illuminated underneath and then dark and then this uneven bright strip along the top".

After about ten or fifteen seconds they lost sight of the UFO as it was obscured by the pine trees at near the bathrooms at Shoreline Park.

Look out for a lot more on the UFO sightings and the dedicated Gulf Breeze sky watchers in future issues of Truth Seekers as yours truly will be spending two weeks there in October.

BUDD HOPKINS NEW BOOK

Look out for Budd Hopkins awaited book on the New York UFO abductions titled 'Witnessed - The True Story of the Brooklyn Bridge Abductions' that was released in the States on the 15th August. It promises to be a fascinating, and controversial book so get ordering.

Budd has also recently tied the not with his girlfriend, who, contrary to what was printed in Quest's UFO magazine, is certainly not Linda Cortile.

LEFT AT EAST GATE

We have been pleased to hear that the long awaited book about the Bentwaters incidents by Larry Warren and Peter Robbins titled 'Left At East Gate', (that we reported in Truth Seekers has finally got a publishing deal) will be out in shops by the end of the year.

Also Larry and Peter will be doing a public talk for Truth Seekers in Cardiff sometime around February next year, we will keep readers informed as to when this will be.

COMMONS WORKMEN NICK KEY TO TUNNEL

A lost key to secret passages under the House of Commons is being hunted by police. Detectives fear it could end up with the IRA.

The key opens a side entrance to a garden area, leading to a warren of tunnels beneath Westminster. No-one even noticed it had gone until Scotland Yard were tipped off by an underworld figure. He said that the labourers - some with criminal convictions - had discovered a passage into the commons.

The man told police: "you open a manhole cover and go down to the chambers underneath the commons." He also said that the key had been pocketed by a builder with IRA connections. Police said that they were taking the incident seriously as a detailed description of the key was given. (It's all part of the open government initiative - ED!)

BRISTOL UFO SIGHTINGS UNCOVERS SECRET PROTOCOLS

Mr Chris Davies of Bristol put his group "Search" on the map, properly, with successive radio interviews on Radio Bristol after a recent UFO flap. The reports of unusual aerial events started to trickle into the Search group office in early July and Chris Davies then started his enquiries. He checked with the local air traffic control tower at Bristol International Airport and they were able to confirm that people had been reporting UFOs to them, although did not state having seen these appearing on RADAR screens.

Witness drawing of light seen.

Investigation into the possibility that people had been seeing LAZER projections or light-show beams were made and whilst it was initially found that no lights could explain the sightings, Chris now tells us that he has uncovered information on one type of lighting projector, known as a "Skyflower" which could explain some of the sightings. Still despite an extensive search, no venues have been found which were using this type of equipment in the area, nor on the dates in question.

Whether or not it is finally decided upon that the lights are in fact light projection systems remains to be seen. One thing that has come out of the whole affair is an interesting admission by the MOD as to procedure used in investigating UFOs. They have stated that "reports are examined, with the assistance of the Departments air defence experts, as required".

This is an interesting admission as it may go against some of the things the outspoken, Mr Nick Pope, Sec 2a MOD (The dept that he claims investigated UFOs under his man power alone.) has said. Mr Pope claims that he was the only person in the MOD who used to investigate UFOs. He also states that he did much of this investigation through his own interest and initiative. This would not seem to be the case if the above facts as given by the MOD, above, are proved to be true! This would mean that there would have been a working group above Pope who made the judgements on UFO sightings and not Mr Pope.

Is this an attempt to undermine Mr Popes book by the MOD and attack his story via a subtle counter story. I have no doubt that this statement will prove to be very controversial as it makes clear that Mr Pope has chosen not to outline the full structure of the MOD UFO investigation channels. [Something that most intelligent Ufologists have picked up on already... -ED]

(Thanks to Mr Chris Davies for his report. Further details of the report may be obtained, or information on Search Group meetings information via Chris on 0117 939 4956)

ENCOUNTERS GETS GELLER TREATMENT

Uri Geller, well known psychic and television personality has made a bold move for public freedom of information on paranormal phenomenon by buying the magazine "Encounters". Encounters which was rumoured to have been losing sales recently will now be imaginatively titled "URI GELLER ENCOUNTERS". We at Truthseekers seriously doubt that this cheesy title will help sales at all and we suspect that it may not help. (Ego's abound with the use of such a title.)

Many serious researchers have boycotted the magazine because of it's half-baked journalism, small articles and the magazines unclear position. Many people have had reason to complain about photographic copyrights being violated (including the publishers of this magazine, although Encounters realise this problem and have now arrangements to compensate after mistakes being made.) We hope that the new change of ownership will help the sales, though we suspect that only if each magazine is touched by Mr Geller himself, will the sales be guaranteed! And we predict "free crystal" offers on the cover (you heard it here first!)

Many of the original team of Encounters have branched off and created a new magazine called Alien Encounters which will deal with UFO issues directly. This new money spinner, for commercial organisation Paragon Publishing, should all ready be on the shelves.

[We at Truthseekers are opposed to serious commercial ventures getting in on the act and cashing in at the publics expense. We wish to state that we feel the prices for bth of the above magazines is far too high and should be reduced. - ED]

DOCTOR PROBES OBJECTS REPORTEDLY LEFT BY ALIENS

Ventura, California: He didn't want his name used. He's a California surgeon and he's scared of repercussions.

"I'd probably be ostracised and be criticised, maybe I'd even lose my licence," he said. "People with credibility who put themselves forward in this field could wind up dead, in jail or out of business."

He performed the operations anyway, before witnesses and a video camera. He cut into the big toe of a woman and into the back of a man's hand. Both believed they'd been abducted by aliens. From both, he extracted small foreign objects with some unusual properties.

"No one has the answers," he said. "But we all know something's going on."

The doctor has been active in UFO groups for five years. Through them, he met a Houston UFO researcher who sent the purported abductees here for surgery last August.

The patients didn't know each other. Neither had been aware of the objects he or she carried. Neither bore any nearby scars or punctures. In both cases, the objects came to light in X-rays for minor, unrelated injuries. In decades of practice, the doctor said he'd never seen anything quite like what he fished out. The objects were encased in a thick, dark membrane. - These weren't cysts, he said. They were so tough, his scalpel couldn't cut them.

The object in the man was the size of a cantaloupe seed; one of the woman's two was T-shaped. Both patients jerked back when the doctor touched the objects - an unusual reaction for people calmed by hypnosis and placed on local anaesthetics. [Because alien implants are usually attached to the nervous system.]

Back in Texas, the membranes were dried out and cut open, revealing tiny, highly magnetic pieces of a shiny black material, Under ultraviolet light, they glowed a brilliant green - same as the 'fingerprints' on the thighs and backs of some who claim to have been abducted, the doctor said.

Strange items have been pulled from 'abductees' before, but many somehow have disappeared before independent scientists could examine them. The sceptics remain sceptical.

"We have not heard of anything that, without the shadow of a doubt, couldn't have been made here on Earth," said Barry Karr, director of the Centre for Scientific Investigation of Claims of the Paranormal (CSICOP). "Let's see the evidence." Perhaps they will.

The objects are in Houston for electrical, chemical and microscopic analysis. The patients who unwittingly carried them say they feel liberated. The doctor figures he'll be called on to perform more operations before long. By Steve Chawkins

Note: The above newsclipping was reprinted in the January 1996 edition of The Y Chronicles - a Canadian newspaper which focuses on the paranormal. The insertion at the end of the eight paragraph is my own - Jonathan Hurst.

[This report is certainly referring to the Derrel Sims abduction research. A large feature on this appears in Sept/Oct issue of UFO magazine, and I have been privileged to see the video of the implant removal. It's real folks...- ED]

THE GALICIAN SIGHTINGS

During the month of February Spanish news channels broadcasted a video that was taken by the villagers of a region in Galicia, in the north of Spain. The area that the video was taken from was subjected to a string of UFO sightings over a period of about 3 months.

On the afternoon of Wednesday the 24th January at 8 p.m. 15 students from Vilapedre and a dozen or so other people, from Roupas de Abaxo saw a lighted sphere that changed colour constantly and carried out strange movements. The light had remained in view for several minutes.

That particular afternoon a group of investigators went to the site with the objective of filming the craft that had been plaguing the area. The head of the group was called Marcelino Requejo, when interviewed by the Spanish magazine enigmas he said the following:

"We were situated on the outskirts of Santaballa , a locality that had been subjected to various sightings. Suddenly we observed a light in the sky that was moving very slowly. It was a brilliant white light , although on occasions it carried out some rapid accelerations. I can say with certainty that it wasn't an aeroplane or a helicopter. It was captured on our camera for nearly 3 minutes until it disappeared into the clouds."

The film was tested and it was found to contain an opaque object that remains static for most of the duration of the video. Requejo added that after the video of the UFO was shot two fighter jets could be seen carrying out manoeuvres in the sky. The aerodrome in Rozas later suggested that it could have been an observation balloon, although when confronted, the meteorological centre in La Coruna denied releasing any atmospheric globe into that region during the afternoon.

Investigators have collected numerous reports from the surrounding villages of As Pontes , Lugo and Villalba by villagers who have purported to have seen very bright yellow and orange lights in the sky that fly silently and don't seem to behave like any aircraft they have seen before.

The mayor of the district of Codesido recommended to all the region to keep quiet about the happenings , probably fearful that it would result in a large amount of journalists arriving. This recommended action of silence didn't however stop the national television station Telecinco from arriving there.

The stories of UFO activity don't just stop at sightings of lights in the sky. Several people have testified to having been witness to UFO landings , in fact according to one witness a strangely lit craft landed in his front garden before changing from a blue to a red colour and taking off noiselessly. There have been other accounts of landings also. One of these involved some strange lights passing above the car of a resident of the region. on examining the car afterwards the roof of the car was abnormally burnt.

All of the testimonies given by the various witnesses in the region have suggested to investigators in the area that the object is triangular in shape always surrounded by light of varying intensity and colour.

Some of the recent files that have been declassified by the Spanish air force show that the area in question has played host to a number of sightings in the past, as well as urologists in Spain having reports of UFO activity in the area dating back 50 years.

What prompted the attention of Ufologists and journalists alike to the UFO activity of this region was the sighting by some of the soldiers on a military base in As Gandaras in the province of Lugo. This all began on the 28th November 1995 when the guard that was keeping an eye on the monitor saw an object that was perfectly distinguishable from the lights of the base some metres above the wire fence. The object appeared to be suspended in space. The sightings had already begun in the area some four days previous to the filming of the UFO by the military base. Many of the locals had already reported sightings to the local newspaper El Regresso. [Apt - ED]

The military have declared that the UFOs that have been reported and filmed by the base and the locals are nothing more than lights from cars and mountains or from the quarry at Ferbedoira. Local urologists have checked out these explanations for the mass UFO activity and don't think that it can sufficiently explain the appearance of the UFOs as the lights from the quarry are very dim and no mountains exist to the south of the base. - Richard Conway.

UFO MURDERS

A disturbing News article found on the Internet...

Phil Schneider, a very brave man, recently lost his life due to what appeared to be a military-style execution in January 1996.

He was found dead in his apartment with piano wire still wrapped around his neck. According to some sources, he had been repeatedly tortured before being killed.

Phil Schneider was an ex- government engineer who was involved in building underground bases.

He was one of three people to survive the 1979 fire fight between the large Greys and US intelligence and military at Dulce underground base.

In May 1995, Phil Schneider did a lecture on what forces he had discovered.

Seven months later he was killed by those for whom he had previously worked.

This man's final acts should not go unnoticed.

A synopsis of a lecture by Bill Schneider.

"It is because of the horrendous structure of the Federal Government that I feel directly imperilled not to tell anybody about this material. However I would like to mention that this talk is going to be broken up into four main topics. Each of these topics will have some bearing on what you people are involved in, whether you are patriots or not."

"I want you to know that these United States are a beautiful place. I have gone to more than 70 countries and cannot remember any country that has the beauty, as well as the magnificence of it's people, like these United States."

"To give you an overview of basically what I am, I started off and went through engineering school. Half of my schooling was in that field and I built up a reputation for being a geological engineer, as well as a structural engineer with both military and aerospace applications. I have helped build two main bases in the United States that have some significance as far as what is called the New World Order. The first base is the one at Dulce, New Mexico.

I was involved in 1979 in a fire fight with alien humanoids and I was one of the survivors. I'm probably the only talking survivor you will ever hear. Two other survivors are under close guard. I am the only one left that knows the detailed files of the entire operation. Sixty- six secret service agents, FBI, Black Berets and the like, died in that fire fight. I was there."

"Number one, part of what I am going to tell you is going to be very shocking. Part of what I am going to tell you is probably going to be very unbelievable, though, instead of putting your glasses on, I'm going to ask you to put your 'scepticals' on. But please, feel free to do your own homework. I know the Freedom of Information Act isn't much to go on, but it's the best we've got. The local law library is a good place to look for Congressional Records. So, if one continues to do their homework, then one can be standing vigilant in regard to their country."

DEEP UNDERGROUND MILITARY BASES

"I love the country I am living in more than I love my life, but I would not be standing before you now, risking my life, if I did not believe it so. The first part of this talk is going to concern deep underground military bases and the black budget. The Black Budget is a secretive budget that garners 25% of the gross national product of the United States. The Black Budget currently consumes $1,25 trillion per year. At least this amount is used in black programmes, like those concerned with deep underground military bases. Presently, there are 129 deep underground military bases in the United States."

"They have been building these 129 bases day and night, unceasingly, since the early 1940's. Some of them were built even earlier than that. These bases are basically large cities underground connected by high-speed magneto-leviton trains that have speeds up to Mach 2. Several books have been written about this activity. Al Bielek has my only copy of one of them.

Richard Souder, a Ph-D architect, has risked his life by talking about this. He worked with a number of government agencies on deep underground military bases. In around where you live in Idaho, there are 11 of them." "The average depth of these bases is over a mile and they again are basically whole cities underground. They are all between 2.66 and 4.25 cubic miles in size. They have laser drilling machines that can drill a tunnel seven miles long in one day. The Black Projects sidestep the authority of Congress, which as we know is illegal. Right now, the New World Order is depending on these bases. If I had known at the time I was working on them, that the NWO was involved, I would not have done it. I was lied to rather extensively."

DEVELOPMENT OF MILITARY TECHNOLOGY, IMPLIED GERMAN INTEREST IN HYPERSPACIAL TECHNOLOGY, AND MORE

"Basically, as far as technology is concerned, for every calendar year that transpires, military technology increases about 44.5 years. This is why it is easy to understand that back in 1943 they were able to create, through the use of vacuum tube technology, a ship that could literally disappear from one place and appear in another place. My Father, Otto Oscar Schneider, fought on both sides of the war. He was originally a U-boat captain, was captured and repatriated in the United States. He was involved with different kinds of concerns, such as the Abomb, the H-bomb and the Philadelphia Experiment. He invented a high-speed camera that took pictures of the first atomic tests at Bikini Island on July 12, 1946. I have original photos of that test, the photos show UFO's fleeing the bomb site at a high rate of speed. Bikini Island at the time was infested with them. Especially under the water and the natives had problems with their animals being mutilated. At that time, General MacArthur felt that the ext war would be with aliens from other worlds." "Anyway, my father laid the groundwork with theoreticians about the Philadelphia experiment, as well as other experiments.

What does that have to do with me?

Nothing, other than the fact that he was my father. I don't agree with what he did on the other side, but I think that he had a lot of guts coming here. He was hated in Germany. There was a $1 million reward, payable in gold, to anyone who killed him. Obviously, they didn't succeed. Anyway back to our topic - deep underground bases."

THE FIRE FIGHT AT DULCE BASE

"Back in 1954, under the Eisenhower administration, the Federal government decided to circumvent the Constitution of the United States and form a treaty with alien entities. It was called the 1954 Greda treaty, which basically made the agreement that the aliens involved could take a few cows and test their implanting techniques on a few human beings, but that they had to give details about the people involved. Slowly, the aliens altered the bargain until they decided they wouldn't abide by it at all. Back in 1979, this was the reality and the fire fight at Dulce occurred quite by accident. I was involved in building an addition to the deep underground military base at Dulce, which is probably the deepest base. It goes down seven levels and over 2.5 miles deep.

At that particular time, we had drilled four distinct holes in the desert and we were going to link them together and blow out large sections at a time. My job was to go down the holes and check the rock samples, then recommend the explosive to deal with a particular rock. As I was headed down there, we found ourselves amidst a large cavern that was full of outer-space aliens, otherwise known as large Greys. I shot two of them. At that time, there were 30 people down there.

About 40 more came down after this got started and all of them got killed. We had surprised a whole underground base of existing aliens. Later, we found out that they had been living on our planet for a long time, perhaps a million years. This could explain a lot of what is behind the theory of ancient astronauts."

"Anyway I got shot in the chest with one of their weapons, which was a box on their body, that blew a hole in me and gave me a nasty dose of cobalt radiation. I have had cancer because of that."

"I didn't get really interested in UFO technology until I started work at Area 51, north of Las Vegas. After about two years recuperating after the 1979 incident, I went back to work for Morrison and Knudson, EG&G and other companies. At Area 51, they were testing all kinds of spacecraft. How many people here are familiar with Bob Lazar's story? He was a physicist working at Area 51 trying to decipher the propulsion factor in some of these craft".

SCHNEIDER'S WORRIES ABOUT GOVERNMENT FACTIONS, RAILROAD CARS AND SHACKLE CONTRACTS

"Now, I am very worried about the activity of the Federal Government. They have lied to the public stonewalled senators and have refused to tell the truth in regard to alien matters. I can go on and on. I can tell you that I am rather disgruntled. Recently, I knew someone who lived near where I live in Portland, Oregon. He worked at Gunderson Steel Fabrication, where they make railroad cars. Now, I knew this fellow for the best part of 30 years and he was a quiet type. He came in to see me on it, one day, excited, he told me "they're building prisoner cars."

He was nervous. Gunderson.. he said had a contract with the federal Government to build 107,200 full length railroad, each with 143 pairs of shackles. There are 11 sub-contractors in this giant project. Supposedly, Gunderson got over 2 billion dollars for the contract.

Bethlehem Steel and other steel outfits are involved. He showed me one of the cars in the rail yards in North Portland. He was right. If you multiply 107,200 times 143 times 11, you come up with about 15,000,000. This is probably the number of people who disagree with the Federal Government. No more can you vote these people out of office. Our present structure of government is "technocracy"- not democracy, it is a form of feudalism. It has nothing to do with the republic of the United States. These people are godless and have legislated out prayer in public schools. You can get fined up to $100,000 and two years in prison for praying in school. I believe we can do better. also believe that the Federal Government is running the gambit of enslaving the people of the United States. I am not a very good speaker, but I'll keep shooting my mouth off until somebody puts a bullet in me, because it's worth it to talk to a group like this about these atrocities".

AMERICAS BLACK PROGRAMME CONTRACTORS

"There are other problems. I have some interesting 1993 figures. There are 29 prototype stealth aircraft presently.

The budget from the US Congress five-year plan for these is $245.6 million.

You couldn't buy the spare parts for these black programmes for that amount So, we've been lied to. The black budget is roughly $1.3 trillion every two years. A trillion is a thousand billion. A trillion dollars weighs 11 tons. The US Congress never sees the books involved with this clandestine pot of gold. Contractors of stealth programmes: EG&G, Westinghouse, McDonnell Douglas, Morrison-Knudson, Wackenhut Security Systems, Boeing Aerospace, Lorimar Aerospace, Aerospaceal in France, Mitsubishi Industries, Ryder Trucks, Bechtel, I G Farben, plus a host of hundreds more. Is this what we are supposed to be living up to as a freedom-loving people? I don't believe so."

STAR WARS AND APPARENT ALIEN THREAT

"Still, 68% of the military budget is directly or indirectly affected by the black budget. Star Wars relies heavily upon stealth weaponry. By the way, none of the stealth programme would have been available if we had not taken apart crashed alien disks. None- of it. Some of you might ask what the "space shuttle" is "shuttling." Large ingots of special metals that are milled in space and cannot be produced on the surface of the earth. They need the near vacuum of outer space to produce them. We are not even being told anything close to the truth. I believe our government officials have sold us down the drain lock, stock and barrel.

Up until several weeks ago, I was employed by the US government with a Rylite-38 clearance factor - one of the highest in the world. I believe the Star Wars programme is there to solely to act as a buffer to prevent an alien attack - It has nothing to do with the "cold war", which was only a toy to garner money from all the people - for what? The whole lie was planned and executed for the last 75 years."

STEALTH AIRCRAFT TECHNOLOGY USE BY US AGENCIES AND THE UNITED NATIONS

"Here's another piece of information for you folks. The Drug Enforcement Administration and the ATF rely on stealth tactical weaponry for as much as 40% of their operations budget. This is in 1993, the figures have gone up considerably since. The United Nations used American stealth aircraft for over 20% of its collective worldwide operations from 1990 to 1992, according to the Centre for Strategic Studies and UN Report 3092.11

THE GUARDIANS OF STEALTH AND DELTA FORCE ORIGINS OF THE BOSNIA CONFLICT

"The guardians of Stealth: There are at least three distinct classifications of police that guard our most well-kept secrets. Number one, the Military Joint Tactical Force (MJTF), sometimes called the Delta Force or Black Berets, is a multi-national tactical force primarily used to guard the various stealth aircraft worldwide. By the way, there were 172 stealth aircraft built. Ten crashed, so there were at last count about 162. Bill Clinton signed them away about six weeks ago to the United Nations. There have been indications that the Delta Force was sent over to Bosnia during the last days of the Bush administration as a covert sniper force and that they started taking pot shots at each side of the controversy, in order to actually start the Bosnia conflict that would be used by succeeding administrations for political purposes."

THOUGHTS ON THE BOMBINGS IN THE UNITED STATES

"I was hired not too long ago to do a report on the World Trade Centre bombing. I was hired because the 90 some - odd varieties of chemical explosives. I looked at the pictures taken right after the blast. The concrete was puddled and melted. The steel and the rebar was extruded up to six feet longer than it's original length. There is only one weapon that can do that - a small nuclear weapon. That's a construction-type device. obviously, when they say that it was a nitrate explosive that did the damage, they're lying 100% folks. The people that they have in custody probably didn't do the crime. As a matter of fact, I have reason to believe that the same group held in custody did do other crimes, such as killing a Jewish rabbi in New York. However, I want to further that with the last explosion in Oklahoma City, they are saying that it was a nitrate or fertilizer bomb that did it."

"First they came out and said it was a 1,000 pound fertiliser bomb. Then it was 1,500. Then 2,000 pounds. Now it's 20,000. You can't put 20,000 pounds of fertiliser in a Ryder Truck. Now, I've never mixed explosives, per se. I know the chemical structure and application of construction explosives. My reputation was based on it. I helped hollow out more than 13 deep underground military bases in the United States.

I worked on the Malta project, in West Germany, in Spain and in Italy. I can tell you from experience that a nitrate explosion would not have hardly shattered the windows of the federal building in Oklahoma City.

It would have killed a few people and knocked part of the facing off the building, but it would never have done that kind of damage. I believe that I have been lied to and I am not taking it any longer, so I'm telling you that you've been lied to."

THE TRUTH BEHIND THE REPUBLICAN CONTRACT WITH AMERICA

"I don't perceive at this time that we have too much more than six months of life left in this country, at the present. We are the laughing stock of the world, because we are being hoodwinked by so many evil people that are running this country. I think we can do better. I think the people over 45 are seriously worried about their future. I'm going to run some scary scenarios by you. The Contract with America. It contains the same terminology that Adolph Hitler used to subvert Germany in 1931. I believe that we can do better. The Contract with America is a last ditch effort by our federal government to tear away the Constitution and the Bill of Rights."

SOME STATISTICS ON THE BLACK HELICOPTER PRESENCE

"The black helicopters. There are over 64,000 black helicopters in the United States. For every hour that goes by, there is one more being built. Is this the proper use of our money? What does the federal government need 64,000 tactical helicopters for, if they are not trying to enslave us? I doubt if the entire military needs 64,000 worldwide. I doubt if all the world needs that many. There are 157 F-117A stealth aircraft loaded with LIDAR and computer-enhanced imaging radar.

They can see you walking from room to room when they fly over your house. They see objects in the house from the air with a variation limit of 1 inch to 30,000 miles. That's how accurate it is. Now, I worked in the federal government for a long time and I know exactly how they handle their business."

Government Earthquake Device, AIDS as a Bioweapon Based on Alien Excretions.

"The federal government has now invented an earthquake device. I am a geologist and I know what I am talking about. With the Kobe earthquake in Japan, there was no pulse-wave as in a normal earthquake. None. In 1989, there was an earthquake in San Francisco. There was no pulse-wave with that one either. It is a Tesla device that is being used for evil purposes. The black budget programmes have subverted science as we know it. Look at AIDS, invented by the National Ordinance Laboratory in Chicago, Illinois in 1972. It was a biological weapon to be used against the people of the United States. The reason that I know that is that I have seen the documentation by the Office of Strategic Services, which is by the way still in operation to this day, through the CDC in Atlanta.

They used the glandular excretions of animals humans and alien humanoids to create the virus. These alien humanoids that the government is hobnobbing with are the worst news. There is absolutely no defence against their germs -none. They are a biological weapon of terrible consequence. Every alien on the planet needs to be isolated."

"Saddam Hussein killed 3.5 million Kurdish people with a similar biological weapon. Do we, the people of this planet, deserve this? No, we don't, but we are not doing anything about it. Every moment we waste, we are doing other people on the planet a disservice."

"Right now I am dying of cancer that I contracted because of my work for the federal government. I might live six months. I might not. I will tell you one thing. If I keep speaking out like I am, maybe God will give me the life to talk my head off. Eleven of my best friends in the last 22 years have been murdered. Eight of the murders were called "suicides." Before I went to talk in Las Vegas, I drove a friend down to Joshua Tree, near 29 Palms. I drove into the mountains in order to get to Needles, California and was followed by two government E-350 vans with G-14 plates, each with a couple of occupants, one of which had an Uzi. I knew exactly who they were. I have spoken 19 times and have probably reached 45,000 people. Well,, I got ahead of them and came to a stop in the middle of the road. They both went on either side of me and plummeted into a ravine. Is this what it is going to take? I cut up my security card and sent it back to the government and told them if I was threatened, I have been, that I was going to upload 140,000 pages of documentation to the Internet about government structure and the whole plan. I have already begun that task. Thank you very much."

TRUTHSEEKERS HARDCORE

THE UNDERGROUND EMPIRE

In March of 1980, John J. Williams, a New Mexico "Patriot" who published the anti-Communist oriented "REBEL MAGAZINE" (at the time available from: Consumertronics Co., c/o John J. Williams. Pres., 2011 Crescent Dr., P.O. Drawer 537., Alamogordo, NM 88310) revealed some incredible details on an alleged subterranean system which the Navy had been exploring below the western United States. The report appeared in issue No. 6 of his magazine, and was later reproduced in the Fall, 1985 (#164) issue of SEARCH Magazine, at the time edited by Marjorie Palmer, widow of the late Ray Palmer. The article, titled 'CALIFORNIA FLOATS ON OCEAN?', revealed the following:

"Some time ago, I heard a man on a TV interview-show briefly mention that parts of California and neighbouring states are floating on the Pacific Ocean! He was a high ranking Naval officer on a top-secret nuclear submarine that has been (and is) exploring and mapping these enormous caverns and passage-ways underneath the West for over 10 years now.

"A friend of mine finally tracked the man down. He is now living quietly in retirement and asked that no details pointing to him be revealed as he does not want publicity and government attention. After writing this article, I destroyed my files on him. This is his story..."

Williams explains that not "all" of the areas in question are actually "resting" or "floating" on the ocean, however there are allegedly many subterranean cavities below the western U.S., and they are not limited to California, and many of them consist of very large water-filled aqua-systems. These have been explored via nuclear submarines to several hundred miles inland, particularly in the region of southern California and the southern Oregon - northern California area. Williams continues:

"...When he retired several years ago, in spite of about 10 years of intensive Naval study, the Navy had not gotten even a handle on their exacts and dimensions. Today, the story may be different.

"He makes the following statements from his observations:

- ◆ "1. The passageways are labyrinthine with widths from a few to thousands of feet (caverns), averaging roughly about a 100 feet.
- ◆ "2. Much like dry caverns do, heights and depths vary a great deal and in some cases, two or more caverns or passageways pass over or under each other at different depths.

- ◆ "3. Most of the entrances lie just off the Continental Shelf (ie. in the Continental Slope - Branton).
- ◆ "4. Most of the entrances are too small for submarine investigation; and many that are large enough lie in waters that are too deep.
- ◆ "5. Some of the caverns (in S. California) are topped with oil while some others are filled with gases believed to approximate our atmosphere (in very ancient times).
- ◆ "6. The San Joaquin Valley is essentially a portion of the original cavernous area that collapsed aeons ago due to it's sheer weight.
- ◆ "7. What is being passed off as the 'San Andreas Fault' are large, unsupported chambers that are in the process of collapsing. When the BIG ONE finally hits, many scientists in the know believe that most of California will break off like a cold Hershey bar and slide into the ocean! (it is postulated by some that an ancient land-mass which some believe may have been connected to what is now California, broke off and sunk into the ocean during an ancient cataclysm - Branton)
- ◆ "8. (We are deleting this section due to the possibility of undue stress and fear which may result from it's disclosure. Also, because of recent international events which may have resulted in a solution to this problem. We will merely state that it involves a scenario similar to that which was portrayed in a

James Bond movie, and which concerned underground caverns, silicon valley, nuclear weapons, and the San Andreas fault -

Branton). [Sacred-cats - ED]

- ◆ "9 A WELL-KNOWN U.S. nuclear submarine lost its way in these passages and disappeared forever. It was reported to have been lost IN OPEN SEA ELSEWHERE to keep the American people in total ignorance and to justify an enormous pay-off to an eccentric U.S. billionaire (who died in recent years) for providing the fictitious "recovery" effort.

"I have no reason to doubt the man. I can't tell for sure whether or not these caverns and passageways exist or to their extents. The story does sound a bit fantastic but I have no reason to doubt the man. I have seen copies of documentation that at least prove that he was a high ranking Naval officer (nuclear submarine duty) and a distinguished scientist. In fact, his scientific background and reputation are impeccable. He definitely cannot be labelled as a crackpot, lunatic or publicity-seeker. I would very much like more information on this topic."

After further inquiries to Mr. Williams on the part of 'inner earth' researchers, Williams responded with the following when asked whether or not he had received any replies to his request for more information about the alleged passageways below California:

"Since publishing our article on the vast cavern network under much of California, we have received many responses and inquiries. Some of these responses appear to be knowledgeable sources. Note that the material sent to us for this article was written by someone of very high repute whose credentials I personally checked out. Due to an agreement with him, I cannot reveal his identity.

"One response was from a retired (conventional submarine duty? - Branton) submarine commander, who according to him, spent many years in the waters off California. He stated that the caverns do NOT exist.

"Another response was from an anonymous person who cited unpublished oil company seismographical data, and stated, 'Although most of the caverns you depict in your drawing are smaller, larger or located somewhat differently than the actual caverns, you are essentially correct. My information is more up-to-date than what you apparently relied upon.' He (or she) did not supply any maps to pin down our differences, just some written descriptions. However, some knowledgeable person could probably deduce his (or her) overall 'map' from the voluminous seismographical data sent. I am in the process of looking for this input; it's been several years now and it may have all been thrown out. Incidentally, the oil company seismic data had much data round the Fresno area if that helps any.

"One incident which tends to confirm the fact that California is in fact floating on the ocean was a story which made the headlines in recent years. This incident involved an oil discovery beneath Long Beach, California. When oil companies began pumping oil out of the ground beneath Long Beach it was soon learned that the entire city  began sinking into the ocean!

"It sank up to 26 feet and dikes had to be built to keep out the water. The problem is (temporarily) being rectified by 'water injection'-i.e. pumping an equivalent amount of WATER into the ground to the amount of oil and water taken out, in order to keep the city afloat!"

One thing which may be of interest in connection with Mr. Williams' account was a statement which was made by a prominent California Bigfoot investigator by the name of Virginia Louise Swanson, who has done a good deal of study on caves and their connections to the Bigfoot phenomena. She refers to these caverns in the following words:

"...Somewhere I got the idea that a big portion of Death Valley is located on a shelf of false bedrock. A certain type of earthquake would collapse all of it down to an enormous series of caverns that would open up into another Grand Canyon."

According to our knowledge, the only nuclear submarines ever to disappear under mysterious circumstances were the U.S.S. THRESHER and the U.S.S. SCORPION. It is uncertain whether the retired Navy Officer who John J. Williams spoke of was referring to the THRESHER or the SCORPION, although the disappearance of the Thresher probably caused more publicity. The Thresher was the LEAD SHIP or 'Flag' ship in the world's most advanced class of nuclear attack submarines. She was designed to operate deeper and more silently than any of her predecessors and was also endowed with significant advances in sonar equipment, in noise reduction, and in fire-control. All in all, she was the most advanced international submarine in the world at the time of her disappearance and would have been an ideal choice for a top-secret mission such as the exploration of the caverns mentioned by John Williams' source.

On April 10, 1963 (according to official reports) the Thresher, under the command of Lt. Commander John W. Harvey, USN, with a total of 129 men (comprised of the crew, civilian technicians, and observers) disappeared without explanation. Not a single trace or clue as to the fate of the craft, or it's occupants, were ever recovered: no oil slicks, radiation, floating debris, or similar signs of wreckage were ever seen. It is interesting to note that almost all of the reports at the time stated the ship had "disappeared," or was "lost," not "sunk!" One woman whose husband was on the ill-fated ship reported her belief that her husband was still alive. Theologically speaking, the possibility of a long-distance connection or "communion" on a deep, emotional level between a husband and a wife should not necessarily be consigned to the realm of the occult or "psychic" phenomena. Many religions believe that the very spiritual natures of a husband and a wife are united upon the consummation of a marriage, and thus they become, as Christian teachings say, "one flesh". The actual words of this woman, who was interviewed by Will Carson and Jeannie Joy-two writers devoted to pursuing strange events-shortly after the Thresher incident, were as follows:

"My husband was on the submarine Thresher when it disappeared. I don't consider myself a widow. I don't believe my husband is dead. No, it's not a matter of just not being able to believe it, to accept reality, I just can't get over the conviction that he's still alive somewhere. I love my husband very much. I know he loved-likes me. We were very close. We could always tell when something was wrong with each other. Intuition, I guess. I should have felt something the instant there was trouble, if he was really in serious trouble and knew it-a matter of life and death-but I didn't."

"What do you believe really happened?" Carson and Joy asked the attractive young woman.

"Most people think I'm crazy when I say this, but I believe the Thresher was captured."

"By whom?"

"I can't say for sure, but there WAS a Russian submarine spotted near there that day (that is, near where it REPORTEDLY vanished 220 miles off Boston harbour)-only I can't imagine how even the Russians could CAPTURE a vessel like the Thresher without leaving the slightest evidence!"

The following account, concerning an area just east of Bishop (OWENS VALLEY); California, was related by Val Valerian in his

'LEADING EDGE' Newsletter, Dec. 1989 - Jan. 1990 issue. The article, titled: 'DEEP SPRING'S, CALIFORNIA', stated:

"Deep Springs, California is an area that is becoming known as the site for very strange events. According to the information released both on the air on KVEG-AM and from other sources, the area is full of strange people wandering around in black suits. There have also been rumours that there is an underground facility in the area. Checking with gravity anomaly maps proved that there are large cavities under the ground in that area. The wildest claims relative to the area have stated that alien lifeforms are being released there... Deep Springs Lake has been probed and it appears bottomless. Divers have travelled along an underground river 27 miles toward the Las Vegas area before having to turn around." (This 'river' would probably have been a 'partially' water-filled cave with a large stream or river flowing through it, rather than an entirely underwater passage, since 27 miles would undoubtedly be entirely out of the question if it were all underwater travel, with present diving technology - Branton).

In the April, 1963 issue of SEARCH Magazine, Will Carson and Jeannie Joy, in their regular column 'PRYING INTO THE UNKNOWN', related the following incredible story:

"It has always been a mystery to us in the first place how Mr. and Mrs. P.E. can find and afford the time to do the sort of things most of us only dream of doing. After knowing them for more than fifteen years, it is inconceivable to suspect their integrity or sanity - and yet they impose the following excise upon our credulity...

"While exploring for petroglyphs in the Casa Diablo vicinity of BISHOP, CALIFORNIA, Mr. & Mrs. P.E. came upon a circular hole in the ground, about nine feet in diameter, which exuded a sulphurous steam and seemed recently to have been filled with hot water. A few feet from the surface the shaft took a tangent course which looked easily accessible and, upon an impulse with which we cannot sympathise, the dauntless E.'s, armed only with a flashlight, forthwith crawled down into that hole.

"At a depth we've failed to record the oblique tunnel opened into a horizontal corridor whose dripping walls, now encrusted with minerals, could only have been carved by human hands, countless ages ago - of this the E.'s felt certain. The end of the short passage was blocked by what seemed to be a huge doorway of solid rock which, however, wouldn't yield. The light of their flash was turned to a corner where water dripped from a protuberance - which proved to be a delicately carved face, distorted now by the crystallised minerals, and from whose gaping mouth water issued.

"As Mr. and Mrs. E. stood there in silent awe - wondering what lay behind that immovable door - the strangest thing of all happened...but our chronology will not be incorrect if we wait till they return to the surface before revealing this, for now the water began gushing from the carved mouth and from other unseen ducts elsewhere in that cave and rising at an alarming rate!

"They hurried to the surface, and in less than half an hour there was only a quite ordinary appearing pool of warm mineral water on the desert floor. Do you know," Mrs. E. said to her husband, "while I stood down there I heard music - the strangest, most weird music I'd ever heard. But it seemed to come from everywhere at once, or inside my own head. I guess it was just my imagination."

"Mr. E. turned pale. 'My God,' he said; I thought it was MY imagination, but I heard it, too - like music from some other world!"

"Why do they call that rock formation near where the E's had their strange experience Casa Diablo - the Devil's house? And why did the Indians name that area Inyo - dwelling place of the great spirit?"

Erich A. Aggen, Jr., in his article 'TOP SECRET: ALIEN UFO BASES' (SEARCH Magazine, Summer 1991 issue), presented the following revelations concerning the UFO-Subterranea connection:

"...A great deal of UFO research has also led to the conclusion that various...species of aliens have set up secret underground bases in the United States and other countries. It is logical to assume that such bases have also been established elsewhere in the solar system. If such bases exist, where would we find them? Existing information allows us to make a few educated guesses.

"EARTH BASES: UNDERGROUND - The dark, cavernous world beneath our feet is the source of many baffling mysteries. Clandestine UFO bases may be hidden deep within the earth in natural and/or artificial caverns. As a former member of the National Speleological Society (NSS), I am well aware of the vast extent of cave systems within the United States. In my own native state of Missouri, for example, there are over 2,500 known caves and dozens of new ones being discovered every year. Many of these caves are intricately linked together by numerous passageways and interconnecting chambers.

"One particular species of blind white (albino) cave fish, the TYPHLICHTHYS, has been found in many widely separated cave systems over several states. It has been found in caves that make a great arc through Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and UNDER the Mississippi River extending into Missouri, Arkansas, and Oklahoma! A VAST SECTION OF THE CENTRAL AND SOUTHERN UNITED STATES MUST LIE ABOVE ONE IMMENSE CAVERN SYSTEM!

"Many caves possess rooms hundreds of feet in length, width, and height. In most cases, these huge natural caverns can only be reached and explored with the utmost skill and perseverance. There are only a few thousand NSS members in the United States and only a few hundred of this number are active spelunkers. With so few spelunkers spread over such a large area, only a very small fraction of the tens of thousands of known caves in this country have been carefully mapped and explored. Thousands of other caves remain undiscovered and unexplored.

"Extensive evidence indicates that caves in the United States may be connected with caves in other parts of the world. In Mexico, the cave known as 'Sotano de las Golondrinas', (or) basement of the swallows, in the Municipio de Aquismo, S.L.P., reaches a depth of 1100 feet (334 meters). The cave is actually a giant 'sinkhole' or 'hole' in the ground with a nearly circular opening at the top, hundreds of feet in diameter. It is impossible to climb down the sides of Golondrinas because the walls of the opening are too smooth and "belled-out". To reach the bottom of the cave, a special rope over 1100 feet long must be secured at the top of the opening and dropped into the sinkhole. Explorers must then descend into the yawning hole one at a time using special cave repelling gear and climbing techniques. At the bottom of Sotano de las Golondrinas are numerous 'leads' or openings to a multiplicity of different crevices, passages, crawlways, and rooms which have never been mapped or investigated.

"The entrance to Golondrinas is located in one of the most primitive and uncivilised areas of Mexico and local inhabitants are afraid to approach the cave because they believe it is full of 'evil spirits' which lure people to their deaths. They tell stories of people mysteriously disappearing never to be heard from again while passing near the cave entrance. These stories may be based more on fact than fiction: they are similar in some respects to UFO abduction reports. Because of its huge size, remote location, and unique geological structure, Golondrinas would be an ideal UFO base. Naturally camouflaged caves in other parts of the world may serve as excellent natural bases, way stations, and 'depots' for UFOs.

"An underground nuclear test called the 'Schooner Experiment' conducted in December, 1968, substantiates the theory that caves in North and South America are intimately linked. In this test, a 35-kiloton nuclear bomb was exploded under the desert of Nevada. Five days after the test, the radiation level rose from 10 to 20 times in Canada, 1000 miles away from the Nevada test site! The only way the radioactive dust could have travelled that far is through an interconnected system of caves extending all the way from Nevada to Canada!"

Bourke Lee, in his book 'DEATH VALLEY MEN' (MacMillan Co., N.Y. 1932), chapter: "Old Gold", describes a conversation which he had several years ago with a small group of Death valley residents. The conversation had eventually turned to the subject of Paihute Indian legends. At one point two of the men, Jack and Bill, described their experience with an 'underground city' which they claimed to have discovered after one of them had fallen through the bottom of an old mine shaft near Wingate Pass. They found themselves in a natural underground cavern which they claimed to have followed about 20 miles north into the heart of the Panamint Mountains. To their amazement, they allegedly found themselves in an huge, ancient, underground cavern city. They claimed that they discovered within the city several perfectly preserved 'mummies', which wore thick arm bands, wielded gold spears, etc. The city had apparently been abandoned for ages, except for the mummies, and the entire underground system looked very ancient. It was formerly lit, they found out by accident, by an ingenious system of lights fed by subterranean gases. They claimed to have seen a large, polished "round table" which looked as if it may have been part of an ancient council chamber, giant statues of solid gold, stone vaults and "drawers" full of gold bars and gemstones of all kinds, heavy stone "wheelbarrows" which were perfectly balanced and scientifically-constructed so that a child could use them, huge stone doors which were almost perfectly balanced by counter-weights, and other incredible sights.

They also claimed to have followed the caverns upwards to a higher level which ultimately opened out onto the face of the Panamints, about half-way up the eastern slope, in the form of a few ancient tunnel-like quays. They realised that the valley below was once under water and they eventually came to the conclusion that the arched openings were ancient 'docks' for sea vessels. They could allegedly see Furnace Creek Ranch and Wash far below them. They told Bourke Lee that they had brought some of the treasure out of the caverns and tried to set up a deal with certain people, including scientists associated with the Smithsonian Institute, in order to gain help to explore and publicise the city as one of the 'wonders of the world'. These efforts ended in disappointment however when a 'friend' of theirs stole the treasure (which was also the evidence) and they were scoffed at and rejected by the scientists when they went to show them the 'mine' entrance and could not find it. A recent cloud-burst, they claimed, had altered and rearranged the entire countryside and the landscape did not look like it had been before. When Lee last heard from the two men, Bill and Jack, they were preparing to climb the east face of the Panamints to locate the ancient tunnel openings or quays high up the side of the steep slope. Bourke Lee never did see or hear from his friends ever again.

During the lengthy conversation wherein they first revealed the secret of the underground city to Lee and others, the discussion turned to the topic of a Paihute Indian legend that they had heard which was remarkably similar to an ancient Grecian myth. The Paihute legend concerned a tribal chief whose wife had died, and who according to the tradition took a spiritual journey to the underworld to find her, and upon returning with her he 'looked back' and as this was forbidden he was not allowed to bring his wife back with him from the dead. This would not be the same as the more tangible story related in an earlier file, as told by the Navaho Oga-Make, concerning a Paihute chief who was allegedly PHYSICALLY taken into the underground cities of the Hav-musuvus deep below the Panamints. After this legend was referred to, the conversation turned to a discussion of an alleged subterranean race, who were believed to inhabit very deep caverns far below the Death Valley area. Paihute legends of the "Hav-musuvus" indicate that these ancient dwellers of the Panamints abandoned the ancient city within the mountain itself and migrated to deeper and larger caverns below. Could the following story tie-in with the Paihute legends of the Hav-musuvus? We will enter the conversation with the following discourse from Bourke Lee:

"...The professor and Jack and Bill sat in the little canvas house in Emigrant Canyon and heard the legend all the way through. The professor said, 'That story, in its essentials, is the story of Orpheus and Eurydice.'

"Yes,' I said. 'It's also a Paiute legend. Some Indians told that legend to John Wesley Powell in the sixties.'

"That's very interesting,' said the professor. 'It's so close a parallel to Orpheus and Eurydice that the story might well have been lifted bodily from the Greeks.'

"Jack said, 'I wouldn't be surprised. I knew a Greek. I forgot his name, but he ran a restaurant in almost every mining town I ever was in. He was an extensive wanderer. The Greeks are great travellers.'

"Bill said, 'They don't mean restaurant Greeks. The Greeks they're talking about have been dead for thousands of years.'

"What of it?' asked Jack, 'maybe the early Greeks was great travellers, too.'

"The professor said, 'It's very interesting.'

"Now! About that tunnel,' said Bill, with his forehead wrapped in a frown. 'You said this Indian went through a tunnel into a strange country, didn't you?'

"Yes,' I said. 'I think I called it a cave or a cavern, but I suppose a miner would call it a tunnel. Why?'

"Here's a funny thing,' said Bill. 'This Indian trapper living right across the canyon has a story about a tunnel, an it's not a thousand years old either. Tom Wilson told me that his grandfather went through this tunnel and disappeared. He was gone three years, and when he came back he said he'd been in a strange country living among strange people. That tunnel is supposed to be somewhere in the Panamints not awful far from where we're sitting. Now! What do you make of that?"

"Jack said, 'I think Tom's grandfather was an awful liar.'

"I said, 'Tom's grandfather lived when the Paiutes were keeping their tribal lore alive. He probably knew the old legend. Powell heard it in Nevada only sixty-five years ago.'

"It's very interesting," said the professor.

"I got an idea about it," said Bill, thoughtfully. "Tom's grandfather might have wandered into some tunnel all goofy from chewen jimson weed and then come out and found some early whites and stayed with them. Tom told me that the people spoke a queer language and ate food that was new to his grandfather and wore leather clothes. They had horses and they had gold. It might have been a party in Panamint Valley, or even early explorers or early settlers in Owens Valley. How about that?"

"Jack said, 'Yeah. The Spaniards was in here, too. So it might have been Spaniards or the early Greeks. And, where is this tunnel? And why did Tom's grandfather have trouble speaking the language? This is an entirely different story than the one Buck told. We are arriving at no place at all with these Indians and Greeks... To return for a moment to our discussion of geology, professor, have you been in Nevada much?' From here the conversation took off in an entirely new direction...

Some years ago a woman by the name of Joan Howard, at the time living in eastern Canada although originally from Britain, wrote a manuscript in which she described her own paranormal experiences with small "alien" entities. Joan had experienced several UFO-type 'abduction-encounters' while at a very young age when she still lived in Britain, and claimed to have had 'psychic' contact with beings that claimed to be of extraterrestrial origin. These experiences were accompanied by a great deal of occultic manifestations such as poltergeist phenomena, psychic dreams, encounters with invisible entities, etc. Joan even admitted that she often doubted the claims of these 'beings', that their actions were manipulative and just didn't seem to coincide with their claims that they were here as some kind of group of cosmic saviours to lead humanity into a New Age of enlightenment.

She also warned other researchers to retain a "keen, analytical mind" when dealing with alien entities so as not to fall under possible deception or manipulation. Perhaps, as she suggested to others, they might actually be here to prepare for a future invasion of this planet and were merely using her for various purposes to help prepare the way, and that all of their 'benevolence' talk was just that... talk! She DID describe vivid "dreams" in which she saw alien craft hovering over major cities blasting frightened and terrified people in the streets with powerful beam weapons, dreams which she suggested might be somewhat prophetic in nature. She described the entities as being small or dwarfish, yet was unsure whether they were human or not, although they DID attempt to pass themselves off as some type of evolved human species, something which the 'grays' have apparently done in order to break down any natural enmity which might prevent their 'contactees' or 'abductees' from receiving the lies which they intentionally fed them as part of their program of conquest and control.

Joan Howard, incidentally, wrote a privately published book, titled "THE SPACE - OR SOMETHING - CONNECTION". We refer to it here because it dealt with some experiences which she, or rather her husband, had shortly after she came to America. In fact she devoted an entire chapter to her husband's account, which involved some incidents that took place while he was doing some field work for a certain company, which required a great deal of activity in the out-of-doors. During his employment with this company, 'they' (he and his co-workers) had to travel through some relatively unpopulated terrain in West Virginia, particularly in the regions between Newville in Braxton county, and Helvetia in Randolph county, or rather the general region in and around the northern part of Webster county.

During their travels through the forests and wilderness, and the rolling hills-mountains of West Virginia, he had encountered some very strange things, and heard accounts of strange cave-related incidents from the locals. At one point, he claimed, their group ran across what appeared to be a pipe sticking up from the ground far from the nearest town. There was no other sign of civilisation or anything manmade for miles on either side, yet here was this large pipe or tube sticking straight up from the ground. But the most remarkable thing was that a flame was shooting out of the pipe as if it were burning some type of gas. They never found out just what it was.

Also, in this same general area, they explored caverns which contained some very strange things. One of the caverns had strange hieroglyphic-like writing on its walls, and others claimed that they heard what sounded like faint voices and sounds like machines moving underground coming as if from beyond the walls of the caverns, or from their unexplored depths. Two men, he claimed, beaded down one night in front of a certain cave which contained a very deep, unexplored chasm some ways inside. The next morning one of the men woke up and found that his partner had disappeared, and no trace was ever found of him. This particular cave by the way had been known as a place of unusual happenings, and a place to 'stay away from'. Some even went so far as to call it 'Satan's Lair'.

Whatever the case may be, it may provide an answer to the man's disappearance. One of the most remarkable accounts that Joan's husband heard involved a man who claimed that, while exploring the labyrinthine depths of a particular cavern in the area, he had suddenly come face to face with a woman. She was attractive yet completely void of hair (such as someone who might have been subjected to radiation poisoning?). The woman, who spoke a language completely foreign to the man, tried for some time to communicate. After they found that they were not getting anywhere, they departed and went their separate ways.

According to an item which appeared in THE LEADING EDGE Magazine, a well-known Los Angeles talk show host by the name of Ken Hudnell announced over the air on November 3rd, 1989, his intention to take a group to visit one of the ancient underground cities, which he says has an entrance 60 miles from Anaheim, California.

In 1962, a researcher by the name of Chuck Edwards released some of his own discoveries concerning the 'Western Subsurface Drainage Network' which seems to cover parts of Utah, Nevada, and Southern California, where are located many drainage systems which do not ultimately flow into the Pacific ocean (via surface rivers, that is), but instead made their way underground into a vast subterranean drainage system. His letter appeared in issue A-8 of 'THE HIDDEN WORLD', one of the few specialised publications which grew out of the Palmer-Shaver controversy of the late 1940's. We quote Mr. Edwards' comments here in part (Note: These comments are addressed in a letter to Richard S. Shaver):

"This letter is in reply to your January 31 letter. Please forgive me for not answering sooner. Enclosed is some material I hope that you can glean something of value (from). Please be as candid as you have been in the past and if I am far off base don't hesitate to tell me...

"Our foundation has located a vast system of underground passages in the Mother Lode country of California. They were first discovered in 1936, ignored by all even with our best efforts to reveal them. Recently a road crew blasted out an opening verifying our claims. ONE (of the chambers is) 200 feet long, 70 feet wide and 50 feet high. We have disclosed what we believe to be a vast subterranean drainage system (probably traversing the Great American Desert country for a distance of more than 600 miles). We believe this system extends out like five fingers of your hand to such landmarks as Zion Canyon in Utah, the Grand Canyon, another runs south from the Carson Sink in Nevada and yet another follows (below) the western slope of the same range, joining it's counterpart and ending somewhere in the Mojave Desert. We believe, contrary to orthodox geologists, that the existence of this underground system drains all surface waters running into Nevada (none, with the exception of the Armagosa runs out) and accounts for the fact that it is a Great American Desert. The hairy creatures that you have written about have been seen in several of these areas. Certainly there has been much 'saucer' activity in these parts. For two years I have collected material pertinent to these creatures and if you have any opinions along these lines I would appreciate hearing them.

"So much for now. I hope that I am still your friend. Much of my time has been devoted (to) helping a farmer near Portland who has made a fantastic discovery of incredible stone artefacts. He has several tons of them. They predate anything yet found (or accepted) let us say that for now. We are making slow but steady progress in getting through the wall of orthodoxy. - Chuck Edwards."

Still another possible area in the Mojave Desert region which may connect to this subsurface network involved 'Iron Mountain', one of the peaks in the El Paso Mountains Northeast of Mojave, California. There are many bizarre accounts connected with this mountain, which apparently got it's name in part from the many old mines which can be found there, along with numerous natural cavities which open out to the surface in many different areas. The area has allegedly been the site of certain activity concerning native American Indian occult practices, as well as the site of alleged secret government activity, some of which reportedly involves the observation and monitoring of strange creatures and/or automatons which are said to emerge from the area on certain occasions. Just exactly what these 'creatures' are is uncertain, but some accounts indicate that they are dangerous! Could it also be a 'magnetic' zone due to the high iron content?

Following the Sierra Nevada range from here into the northern territories, one arrives at the Cascade Range, consisting mostly of dormant or extinct volcanic mountains which rise at intervals through northern California, Oregon and Washington and into south-western Canada.

The Cascade Range is not without it's own peculiar accounts of subterranean recesses occupied by unknown beings, both human and non-human, who apparently re-discovered what apparently are parts of ancient antediluvian subsurface networks, which were at one time inhabited by a race of highly technological (through extremely violent and warlike) beings, perhaps both human AND reptilian!? There are many unanswered questions as to just how the subsurface world was used, or exactly what part it played, in relation to these ancient subterranean races, but the following account may explain some of these mysteries and help us to see the entire 'picture' more clearly.

Some years ago a man by the name of Ralph B. Fields submitted the following account to A M A Z I N G STORIES Magazine (Dec. 1946 issue, pp. 155-157), with the assurance that it was true and actually happened. However, we must be cautious of every tale of this type which might be presented yet at the same time not deny the possibility of it happening as well. We will leave the reader to draw their own conclusions concerning the account, which we quote as follows:

"In beginning this narrative and the unexplained events that befell my friend and myself, I offer no explanation, nor do I even profess to offer any reason. In fact, I have yet to find a clue that will, even in part, offer any explanation whatever. Yet as it did happen, there must be some rhyme or reason to the whole thing. It may be that someone can offer some helpful information to a problem that just should not exist in these times of enlightenment.

"To begin with, if we had not been reading an article in a magazine telling us about the great value of guano (i.e. bat droppings in old caves, which are said to be extremely effective as a fertiliser - Branton) that have accumulated over a great number of years, we would have continued to wend our merry way through life without ever having a thing to worry about.

"But having read the article as we were at the time living near a small town called Mantén in Tehama County, California, we thought that that would be a good country to explore for a possible find to this kind. After talking it over for some time and as we had plenty of time just then, we decided to take a little trip up the country just back of us. As we were almost at the foot of Mount Lassen, that seemed the best place to conduct our little prospecting tour.

"So collecting a light camping outfit, together with a couple of tents to sleep in, we started out on what we expected to be a three- or four-day jaunt up the mountain. I guess we covered about ten or twelve miles on the third day and it was fast approaching time to begin to look for a place to spend the night and the thought was not very amusing as it had turned a little colder and we were well over 7,000 feet above sea level.

"We soon found a sheltered place beneath a large outcrop of rock and set about making a camp. As I was always the cook and Joe the chore boy, I began getting things ready to fix us some grub and Joe began digging around for some dead scrub brush to burn. I had things all ready and looked around for Joe and his firewood. But I could see no signs of him. I began calling for him and he soon came into sight from around the very rock where we were making our camp. And I knew he was labouring under some great excitement and his face was lit up like a Christmas tree.

"He had found a cave. The entrance was on the other side of that very rock. He was all for exploration right away. But I argued that we had better wait till morning. But he argued that in a cave it was always night and we would have to use flashlights anyway, so what would be the difference? Well, we finally decided that we would give it at least a once-over after we had a bite to eat.

"It wasn't much to call a cave at first as it had a very small entrance, but back about 20 feet it widened out to about 10 feet wide and around eight feet high. And it did reach back a considerable distance as we would see at least 100 yards and it appeared to bend off to the left. The floor sloped slightly down.

"We followed to the bend and again we could see a long way ahead and down.

"At this point we became a little afraid as we were some way into the mountain. The idea of being inside so far seemed to make us a little afraid. But we reasoned that inasmuch as there were no branches or connecting caves we could not get lost and therefore had nothing to be afraid of. So we went on.

"We found no sign of anything that we could imagine to be our much sought guano nor signs of any animals being inside the cave. I don't know how far we went, but it must have been a mile or two, as we kept on walking and the cave never changed its contour or size. Noticing this I mentioned it to Joe. And we discovered an amazing thing. The floor seemed to be worn smooth as though it had been used for a long time as a path or road. The walls and ceiling of the cave seemed to be cut like a tunnel. It was solid rock and we knew that no one would cut a tunnel there out of rock as there had been no sign of mining operations (tailings). And the rock in the walls and ceiling was run together like it had been melted. Or fused from a great heat.

"While we were busy examining the cave in general, Joe swore he saw a light way down in the cave. We started down the cave once more and found a light. Or should I say the light found us as it was suddenly flashed into our faces. We stood there blinded by it for a minute until I flashed my light at its source and saw we were confronted by three men.

"These men looked to be about 50 or a little younger. They were dressed in ordinary clothing such as is worn by most working men in the locality. Levi type pants and flannel shirts and wool coats. They wore no hats. But THEIR SHOES LOOKED STRANGE AS THEIR SOLES WERE SO THICK that they gave the impression of being made of wood. (John Keel's book "THE MOTHMAN PROPHECIES' describes men who were seen wearing THICK-SOLED shoes in connection to MIB reports - Branton)

"We just stood there for a minute or two and looked at them. We had no idea there was anybody within miles of us and there stood three men looking at us in a cave a mile or so in the depths of old Mount Lassen.

"I was scared. We were unarmed. And we knew nothing about these men. One of them spoke to us. He asked what we were looking for. I told him, but I could see he didn't believe it. We both tried to convince him, but he just smiled. We had a little argument with him, but fearing they might be some criminal gang in hiding, we came to the conclusion that we had better retreat. Turning to go we were confronted by two more of them.

"I can't find any words to express the fear and utter helplessness I felt in finding our retreat cut off. I do remember having remarked to Joe, 'Well, it looks like we are behind the well-known eight-ball.' I sure didn't feel as jovial as I spoke either. One of the strangers told us, 'I think maybe you had better come with us.'

"We were in no position to argue, though we both would have liked to do a little of that right there, but we had no way of enforcing our arguments. Where could a hero gain any credit in a place like that? So we permitted the five to escort us deeper into the depths of old Lassen.

"They had led us farther down and I guess we had gone a couple more miles when we came to the first thing that really amazed us.

"We came to a place where the cavern widened out a little and we saw some kind of machine, if it can be called that. Though I had no chance to examine it closely at the time, I did later and it was a very strange contrivance. It had a very flat bottom, but the front was curved upward something like a toboggan. The bottom plate was about eight inches thick and it was the colour of pure copper. But it was very hard tempered. Although I have had a lot of experience in metals and alloys, I had no opportunity to examine it closely enough to determine just what it was. I doubt very much if I could. It had a seat in the front directly behind a heavy dashboard affair and there was a dial shaped in a semi-circle with figures or markings on it. I had not the slightest idea what they stood for, but they were very simple to remember. If there was a motor, it was in the rear. All I could see was two horseshoe or magnet-shaped objects that faced each other with the round parts to the outside. When this thing was in operation, a brilliant green arc seemed to leap between the two and to continue to glow as it was in operation. The only sound it gave off was a hum or buzz that sounded like a battery charger in operation.

"The seat in the front was very wide. The only method of operation was a black tear-shaped object which hung from the panel by a chain. One of these men sitting in the middle took this thing and touched the sharp end to the first figure on the left side of the dial.

"When he touched the first figure, the contraption seemed to move almost out from under us. But it was the smoothest and quietest take-off I ever experienced. We seemed to float. Not the slightest sound or vibration. And after we had travelled for a minute he touched the next figure on the dial and our speed increased at an alarming rate. But when he had advanced the black object over past the centre of the dial, our speed increased until I could hardly breathe. I can't begin to estimate the distance we had travelled or our speed, but it was terrific. The two horseshoe objects in the rear created a green light that somehow shone far ahead of us, lighting up the cavern for a long way. I soon noticed a black line running down the centre of the cavern and our inner-mountain taxi seemed to follow that.

"I don't know how long we continued our mad ride, but it was long enough for us to become used to the terrific speed and we had just about overcome our fear of some kind of wreck when we were thrown into another spasm of fear.

"Another machine of the same type was approaching us head on. I could see that our captors were very nervous, but our speed continued. As the other machine became closer our speed slowed down very fast and we came to a smooth stop about two feet from the front of the other machine.

"Our machine had no sooner stopped than our captors leaped from the machine and started to dash away. A fine blue light leaped from the other machine in a fine pencil beam and it's sweep caught them and they fell to the cavern and lay still.

"The figures dismounted from the other machine and came close to us. Then I noticed they carried a strange object in their hands. It resembled a fountain pen flashlight with a large, round, bulb-like affair on the back end and a grip something like a German luger. They pointed them at us.

"After seeing what had happened to our erstwhile captors I thought that our turn was next, whatever it was. But one spoke to us.

"Are you surface people?"

"I guess we are, as this is where we came from very recently."

"Where did the horlocks find you?"

"If you mean those guys there," I pointed to the five motionless figures, "back there a few hundred miles." I pointed toward the way we had come in our wild ride.

"You are very fortunate that we came this way," he told us. "You would have also become horlocks and then we would have had to kill you also." That was the first time I had realised that the others were dead.

"They put their strange weapons away and seemed friendly enough, so I ventured to ask them the who and why and everything we had run into. I told them of our search for guano and how we had encountered the five horlocks - as he called them. And also asked him about the machines and their operation and could we get out again? He smiled and told us.

"I could not tell you too much as you would not understand. There are so many things to explain and you could not grasp enough of what I could myself tell you. The people on the surface are not ready to have the things that the ancients have left. Neither I nor any one in any of the caverns know why these things work, but we do know how to operate some of them. However, there are a great many evil people here who create many unpleasant things for both us and the surface people. They are safe because no one on the surface believes us or them. That is why I am telling you this. No one would believe that we exist. We would not care, but there are many things here that the outer world must not have until they are ready to receive them, as they would completely destroy themselves, so we must be sure that they do not find them."

"As for the machine, I don't know how it works. But I know some of the principles of it. It works simply by gravity. And it is capable of reverse. The bottom plate of it always is raised about four inches from the surface of the floor. That is why there is no friction and has such a smooth operation. This object suspended from this chain is pure carbon. It is the key to the entire operation. As I told you before, I cannot explain why it runs, but it does. We want you two to return to where you came and forget about us. We will show you how to operate the sled and we want you never again to enter the cave. If you do and you do not encounter the horlocks, we will have to do something about you ourselves so it would not be advisable to not try to return at all events. One thing I can tell you. We never could permit you to leave another time."

"He explained to us the operation of the machine and in some way reversed it's direction. So thanking them, we seated ourselves in the sled, as he had called it, and were soon on our way back.

"Our return trip was really something we enjoyed, as I was sure not to advance the carbon far enough on the dial to give us such terrific speed, but we soon found ourselves where we started from. The sled slid to a smooth stop and we jumped out and started up the cave afoot.

"We must have walked a long way coming in, for we thought we never would come to the surface. But at last we did. And it was late afternoon when we emerged. "We lost no time in making our way down the mountain, and Joe tells me that he isn't even curious about what is in that cave.

"But I am. What is the answer to the whole thing? I would like to know. We had been told enough for me to believe that down there somewhere there are things that might baffle the greatest minds of this Earth. Sometimes I'm tempted to go back into that cave if I could find it again, which I doubt, but, then I know the warning I heard in there might be too true, so I guess I had better be of the same mind as Joy. He says: "What we don't know don't hurt us."

Regardless of "Joe's" opinion, however, there is reason to believe that influences from these nether regions can and do affect "us" in a profound way, and even the men whom Ralph and Joe encountered, whoever they were, admitted this fact.

Is there anything else which we might be able to "read into" this scenario, based on the accumulated data which we've given in previous files? The men who were encountered do confirm that an ancient (ante-deluvian?) race did in fact leave behind extremely sophisticated technology, and it is probably true that man in his largely unregenerate state might be influenced to destroy themselves with these sophisticated machinery if given the chance. Then again the so-called Horlocks (perhaps the same as the 'cyberized', mind-altered and controlled "Men In Black" described by John Keel and others!?) have seemingly utilized such technology without utterly destroying themselves. This could be due to the fact that their 'controllers' (the serpent races?) realise the dangers of such technology and desire to conquer without destroying that which they are conquering. Also, man already has enough 'technology' in the form of nuclear weaponry, etc., to destroy himself many times over, but no use adding fuel to the fire as they say.

As for these underground or subsurface people, they are apparently part of a race or races who discovered these recesses either hundreds or thousands of years ago, or perhaps different groups who discovered this network throughout this entire period of time. The 'horlocks' seem to be a group working under an evil influence, for instance-as we've said-possibly that of the serpent race, since there have been documented CONNECTIONS uncovered between the MIB and the Serpent Race as we have seen and will continue to see. The previous account tends to indicate that once one becomes a 'horlock' (via some mind-altering method of control, re-programming or implantation-cybernezeation!?) they become a threat to both surface and subsurface dwellers who are trying to live an existence free from conflict. We would suggest that NO ONE who still possesses a human soul is completely out of the reach of God's power to deliver them from any evil influence UNTIL they have left this life, at which point it WILL be too late.

There have been some who have suggested that a human body could, through advanced techromancy or technological-necromantic manipulation, be "killed", its "soul-matrix" removed, and revived as an operating organism controlled by another non-physical entity or a bio-computer. As strange as it may sound, this would be a hi-tech version of the ancient 'zombie' legends which supposedly involve the possession of a human being by a demonic entity after that person has 'died', or the hypnotising of a living soul via drugs, etc., into a perpetual catatonic state of control and servitude to a sorcerer, etc.

Could this explain why some of the so-called 'Men In Black' appear to be more mechanical than human, spouting off monotone phrases like a programmed computer? We would suggest however that such horrible perversions of nature, if they in fact exist, would not include ALL of the entities who might be classified under the term 'MIB' or Men In Black, who have been described as being anything from government silencers to alien humans to implanted humans to cybernized humans to androids to reptilian-like beings attempting to pass themselves off as humans. Perhaps this whole gamut of 'alien' entities just mentioned are involved together in the draconian control scenario!?

We would suggest that if a "human" or even a "human-hybrid" or hu-brid still retains some semblance of a human soul, there must be a way of breaking the mental "control" of over such a soul that may be captive to a malevolent power, if that soul is willing, rather than by killing them in order to subdue their influence. The Ralph Fields account referred to SEVERAL inhabited caverns, obviously connected with this underground sub-way system. Also, the fact that the 'horlocks' wore surface clothing would indicate that they probably operate jointly below and above ground, mixing with the inhabitants of the upper world as Keel and other have alleged.

Others have described strange activities surrounding Mt. Lassen, suggesting that this area IS in fact a "battleground" between benevolent and malevolent powers. Some have stated that there is an "alien" atmosphere about the place, others have described strange "voices" which seem to come from nowhere, while still others have described "showers" or rocks ranging in size from small pea-like pebbles to basketball-size stones in a few cases. This 'might' result from volcanic activity, then again, it might not.

There have even been other accounts suggesting that there is a "base" near Mt. Lassen consisting of "joint" human-sauroid activity, or humans under the control of the serpent race and thus serving their cause. The following account which we will describe shortly was released by Val Valerian in June of 1992, and appeared in 'LEADING EDGE'

Robert O' Dean

By Matthew Williams

This man has seen alleged secret documents relating to UFOs whilst working in SHAPE NATO headquarters. What were these secrets and why has Mr Dean been allowed to tell...

Robert Dean has been involved in UFO investigations for the last forty years. His interest in the subject began in the military, serving in Korea and Vietnam and then going on to operate on secret functions in Intelligence Field Operations in Laos, Cambodia and North Vietnam, after which he was shown a document on UFO's.

Dean decided to speak out on this and other information he had after an upset over a lost job promotion which was denied to him after it was seen that he was interested in UFOs. He was in fact the second in line candidate a promotion to position of Chief of Emergency Planning in Pima County, Arizona. The number one person chosen, who was offered the job had turned it down and this meant that Mr Dean should automatically get the job, but he didn't. Instead, the appointing officer who was the county Sheriff, refused point blank to let Mr Dean have the position, because of his diverse interest.

Outraged by the decision Mr Dean filed a law suit, claiming discrimination against himself and another claiming that his First Amendment rights of free speech had also been violated. The Sheriff in question over the allegations, Clarence Dupnik, stated that Mr Deans beliefs represented "not the kind of image we want to project." There were stated fears by the Sheriff that Mr Dean had a high profile position which would be undermined by an equally high profile interest in UFO's.

Mr Dean talked publicly in news articles about his case complaint about his beliefs in UFO's and how he felt it had affected his chances of promotion. He spoke of seeing a UFO whilst working in the Army in 1959 at Fort Huachuca, Arizona.

"It happened whilst I was covering the launch of an unmanned aircraft, when suddenly two technicians started pointing to the side of the launch site. I turned around and there hovering in the air at an altitude of 200 feet was a huge metallic saucer shaped object. It was 30 to 40 feet across and seemed to be made of a polished metal. There were no portholes and it hovered soundless in the sky. It hovered there for 10 minutes and then it started to move away and picked up speed until it finally disappeared."

After the case was taken up by the Attorney General (A high government position) on Mr Deans behalf, time went by and the bills mounted and Bob Dean wondered if he would run out of money fighting his case. He even had to mortgage his house and use up his savings in order to sue. The whole affair almost ruined him financially.

Most of those people who worked with Dean had commended his abilities and felt that he would have suited the job well, and understood why he was disappointed at not getting the appointment. The original number one candidate for the job was heard to have said that almost everyone had hobbies and that certainly Mr Deans interests and hobbies did not interfere with his ability to do the job correctly. Much damning evidence was presented to the attorney including statements made by Sheriff Dupnik which truly showed his prejudices.

Thankfully in 1992 Bob Dean was victorious in his case, but to save embarrassment, the Pima county Sheriffs department offered to settle out of court. The apparently substantial damages of $100,000 only just about covered the cost of the case and Mr Deans legal fees. The Sheriffs departments small further payments because of loss of earnings did not help much either. Mr Dean was left in no better position than he was before, and now he was just about to retire. He was still not satisfied with the outcome. This is where he decided to finally speak out fully on what he knew about UFO's.

Through all the events which ensued Mr Dean had quietly decided that because of the way he had been treated, that perhaps he should now go public on what he knew about UFO's. Although his previous admissions to interest in UFO's were telling of his personal experiences, he had intimated that through his Top Secret clearances he had learned more. Now he decided that as an act of defiance against the authorities which tried to penalise him, that he would now entertain us to the full depth of his knowledge and provide the public with knowledge of the full intrigue and of the government cover-up. This is where the real story now begins.

THE SHAPE OF THINGS BACK THEN...

Army Command Sergeant Robert Dean was once tapped on the shoulder by a friend of his, whilst he was working at SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe), and directed towards a file which was in the secure vaults. This file was about eight inches thick and was called "The Assessment". It was a study of the UFO and alien subject which was ordered by the British Air Marshall Thomas Pike and General Lenny Lemnitzer and was initiated by NATO in response to hundreds of confirmed sightings of mysterious, fast-moving spacecraft in the skies of Western Europe, particularly over military installations. The events which triggered the serious military interest are outlined as follows:

February 2, 1961: 2AM, SHOC (Supreme Headquarters Operations Centre). Everything is quiet and the British Squadron Leader is nodding off. 2:15AM, A teletype bell rings and breaks the silence. Almost immediately phones start to ring and the half sleep staff jump to respond. Squadron Leader Lindsey shouts at the controller "Colonel Allen! I have got Berlin on the line, they say the Soviets have gone on a situation Red Alert and are closing all the bridges and gates around the city." Master Sergeant Bridgeman, U.S. Army loudly reports, "Sir! Both Ramstein and Bitburg have scrambled all their birds. Seems they have picked up lots of bogeys which they are trying to identify."

Within minutes the situation was over and the unidentified radar objects had swept their way over central Europe from the East and turned north and disappeared off NATO radar somewhere over the Norwegian sea. This even showed up serious flaws in the organisational strategies of the NATO organisations and also of those in the Soviet and Warsaw Pact organisations.

February 2, 1961: L. Lemnitzer, SACEUR (Supreme Allied Commander in Europe) had asked for an assessment of the situation and was now sitting in his office, surrounded in the darkness, by five other high ranking military and naval officers. The last to arrive was Air Marshall Pike, Royal Air Force. General Lemnitzer says, "Gentlemen, needless to say that everything we discuss here today will be considered COSMIC TOP SECRET."

"Shortly after 2 AM this morning all hell broke loose. We and the Soviets almost went to war. We had learned that the massive intrusion into our airspace was not the Soviets and an hour ago we were informed by the Warsaw Pact Command they have concluded that the event was not caused by us. Now the big question is what really happened and what are we going to do about it. Apparently the unidentified were large, circular, metallic, in formation, very high and very fast. All reports indicated that there were about 30 to 40 of them. One radar report from Rhein Main, Germany, Painted almost 80 on their scopes"

Air Marshall Sir Thomas Pike, speaking directly to Lemnitzer, "Lem, as you already know, this is the third incident of this kind in the past seven months. We have tried repeatedly to get some kind of guidance from both London and Washington and have received nothing of substance from headquarters. It seems that almost everything we have or receive goes directly to Moscow via Paris. This matter is of course under extensive NATO security investigation. It is fortunate that General Fournet is out of the country at this time. I wish to avoid embarrassing him personally because as you all know, he is a fine and loyal officer. But in the meantime neither Washington or London will send us anything involving the unknown objects that keep showing up on our and Soviet airspace."

Lt. General Heinz Burger, German Air Force (speaking directly to Pike). "Herr Air Marshal, you as well as all of the other commanders in this room know that the federal republic has established an intelligence link between our West German federal Police Intelligence Agency and the Stasi in Berlin. It seems to be a convenience, mutually agreeable to all involved and a reliable source informs us that the Soviets are as concerned about the unknowns as we are. They have even suggested that we establish a direct phone link between our respective headquarters to avoid any further tragic mistakes because of misidentifications."

Pike responded: "General Burger, I think we should follow through on this communication link and not only maintain it but extend it if possible."

Pike turning to Lemnitzer, "Lem, I propose that we here at SHAPE conduct our own investigation, at the highest levels of course, with the utmost secrecy and try and determine what exactly is going on with the unknowns. It would be a bloody shame if we and the Reds were to go to war at the wrong time, and for the wrong reasons!"

Lemnitzer: "Tom I agree. Let's do our own study and try to get a handle on these unknowns and see what it means. I will give you my full support and assure you the Secretary General will fund whatever is necessary to resolve the matter." Pike: "Gentleman, I will initiate a full and comprehensive study and will be calling on each of you for support. I intend to not only cover the military aspects of this matter but to include historical, sociological, physiological, meteorological and the more disciplined sciences as well. What evidence we have collected so far indicated that we are being confronted by high technology machines and I bloody well want to know whose machines they are!"

The Assessment as it was to become known was subtitled An Evaluation of a Possible Military Threat to Allied Forces in Europe. The document was given a classification of COSMIC Top Secret, a classification which was and still is the highest used by SHAPE and NATO. It was completed in 1964 and only fifteen copies were ever produced. The complete package contained reports, testimonies, interviews, photographs and in depth studies by historians, theologians, atmospheric physicists, astronomers, astro-physicists, sociologists and psychologists.

The area studies covered all of the NATO theatre of operations from northern Norway all the way south Turkey and Greece. There was photographs of crash retrievals complete with little bodies shown and some limited analysis of "Plasti-metals" which they didn't seem to understand in 1964. Humans were seen outside some of the craft and had made contact with farmers, fisherman and even Italian airmen but strangely none of UFOs piloted by humans had ever crashed!???

The conclusions in the report were impressive and concluded that:

- a. The planet earth was the subject of an extensive survey by several extraterrestrial civilisations.
- b. "They" demonstrated extremely advanced technology - possibly a thousand years or more beyond us.
- c. There was a process or plan of some kind unfolding. The study demonstrated that a development of some kind was taking place. One on one contact, then two or more, then several and then they would show themselves to a few dozen people. After that, they would seem to make flyovers, then landings, then they would even seem to pose to allow photographs.
- d. Evidence indicated that this has been going on for several millennia.
- e. There did not appear to be a major military threat involved. If "they" were hostile, there was absolutely nothing we could do.

The study caused a few serious psychological reactions among several of the top generals. The Air Deputy, General Robert Lee, US Air Force, was one who was quite disturbed. Interestingly the French government, under Charles DeGaul, withdrew France from NATO. This meant questions of who are we as a race? Why are we here? What is our future?"

"I would never have imagined in 1964 that those events would propel me into a 30-year synthesis of a great number of separate disciplines that would bring together the hard sciences with philosophy, history, archaeology, anthropology, mythology, and theology. It has become abundantly clear to me that no single science or academic discipline could ever begin to clarify for us, the whole story on the UFO phenomena."

that the SHAPE headquarters had to move from Roquencourt, just outside of Paris, to Brussels, in 1967. At this point the French copy of The Assessment had to be removed, but it was believed that the French had made a copy for soon after they established "GEPAN", under the National Gendarmerie. GEPAN was the national French UFO research organisation.

"I know that I am not alone in speaking on this matter," says Bob Dean, "and I am also aware that I am violating my security oath. I am also aware that until someone else comes forward to confirm my story, that I am vulnerable to accusations of lying, hoaxing, fame and fortune seeking and so on. I have tried to state that there is no fame nor fortune in this matter. I have never profited from this story and have suffered great ridicule over the years due to my certainty of the reality of the alien connection. Although I was a cold warrior during the Cold War, now with the Cold War over, and apparently won by us, I feel that it is time for many of us who were there to tell the truth on these matters."

He continues, "My recent two-year litigation suit against the Pima County Sheriff's department is a classic example of the kind of ignorance and ridicule that someone who seeks the truth on the UFO matter can experience."

"In the last 30 years I have opened my heart and mind to the infinite and timeless possibilities that cast a new light on the human condition and more clearly explain, at least in my mind, the great and infinite

"It was somewhere near the middle of those painful and yet joyful years of synthesis that I began to see the unity of spirit of mankind's search for truth. I began to detect in that incredibly beautiful, yet bloody tapestry of human experience a single golden thread winding its way from the very beginning of our history. That pure and beautiful golden thread was and is our search for the spirit. It became quite clear to me that every major religious effort in mankind's history was sparked and initiated by one single source. The ancient teachings of every great spiritual teacher were telling us the same story and that story was that we are one. Within the pages of every great religious classic, the same single beautiful story is told. From the Bhagavad Gita, the Holy Bible, the Zend Avesta, the Koran or the Suttras of Buddha, the same single bright truth emerges. The human race is one. Our trivial differences are meaningless. It doesn't matter what church we go to, it doesn't matter what colour our sin is, it doesn't matter what language we speak or what ethnic origin we might have, it simply doesn't matter! We are all children of God and we are all part of this experience called life."

"As a result of this 30-year synthesis I have concluded that the human race is indeed a hybrid race and not only are we not alone in the cosmos, but we have never been alone."

The human race has had an intimate inter-relationship with several high Technology, extremely advanced extraterrestrial civilizations for several thousand years.

Indeed, our entire history and vast and incredible development as a species has been an intricate and intimate process of the development of relations between us as humans and other more advanced species in the universe. It is a humbling experience to admit and acknowledge these greater truths, but that acknowledgement is crucial and necessary if we are ever going to mature as a people and prepare ourselves to take our rightful place in an infinite community of life in the universe.

My personal view is that this understanding in itself will bring about a major expansion of consciousness in the citizens of this planet which will eventually bring us together as a people and hopefully provide us a glorious future. I believe that this process is a universal constant. In an infinite cosmos of life, civilisations, cultures, species of an incredible variety will, in time, mature to a point where they must, out of the necessity for survival, expand beyond their planetary nursery. A failure to meet this challenge will in most cases result in self destruction. I have concluded that the human race has reached this critical mass point. With our technical accomplishments in thermonuclear weaponry, biological weaponry, particle beam technology and so on, we must begin to understand our place in this incredible epic, called life. A door is being opened for us by our cosmic family to an infinite and glorious future but we, as a race, must respond accordingly.

The time has come to leave behind in our bloody past racial, religious, and ethnic bigotry, as well as ignorance and hatreds of all kinds. We cannot afford to continue such disgraceful matters as Bosnia, the West Bank, South Africa, and Northern Ireland. A race that presumes the right to expand into space must meet the future with hope, unity, patience, tolerance, and above all, LOVE.

Therefore, a certain modest humility must accompany our maturity. We must be prepared to step up and out into the universal community of life as one people, from one small planet, with one future, or sadly, we may not go at all. The UFO matter, the crop circles, the recent increase of sightings of "The Beautiful Lady," the transmission of knowledge through channelling is all part of a cosmic attempt to shock the human race into the realisation of our unity. We must respond, we must mature, and we must step into the 21st century with hope, love and oneness. Frankly, we have no other choice.

CROP CIRCLES REPORT

E.V.M. and The Fields of Sussex

By Nigel & Debbie Pardoe

The subject of Crop Circles is a mysterious realm to many, but exploring the possibilities are groups like the Sussex Cereological investigators. These are the people who are visiting the fields and taking samples. They often spend many nights watching fields and spend hours charting the phenomenon and trying to see if there are new and exciting observations which can be made. Working mostly out of their own pockets with diligence that deserves credit, but rarely gets it we now see how the researchers work, and counter claims of "hoaxing".

We visited four of this year's Sussex formations with a device known as the Electrostatic Volt Meter (EVM) which, as its name suggests, measures the background electrostatic field. The Cissbury formation was surveyed twice and so we actually managed five dawn raids on Sussex formation sites during the hot British summer of 1995. I must admit, it feels as though we surveyed many more since it is no easy feat to rise at about 03.00 hrs, drive out to a formation (and Cissbury was an 80 mile round trip), spend perhaps 2 hours in the field taking EVM readings until after the Sun has risen and then head for home to prepare for a full days work. Then, of course, reports have to be written up and the data presented in such a way that the BLT team can make sense of it all. It really does take a lot of time but they were hours well spent and we were ever eager to get out to the next formation before Barry Reynolds was let loose with his scythe and bin-liners.

POSITIVE CHARGE

This being our first year out in the fields with this little gadget we had no idea what to expect and apart from some rough guidelines on the basis of a couple of isolated reports from previous years, it felt as if we were treading on practically virgin ground. Anyway, we had some basic notes about the EVM itself and we understood that at night ALL crop, whether upright or downed, should have an electrostatic charge of zero volts and as the Sun rises ALL crop should gradually acquire a positive charge. However, as in many other areas, the crop circle phenomenon does not always conform to the basic laws of physics and on previous occasions negative electrostatic charges had been observed, most often at the standing edges within a formation. No explanations for this anomaly had as yet been given.

Our preliminary preparations included 60 wooden sticks about 2 ft long which were marked numerically from F1 to F50 (for formation readings) and C1 to C10 (for control readings) and these were placed in the ground to indicate their exact locations. On hearing about the first Sussex formation at Southease (figure 1), we were relieved that it was not too distant and we first saw this double-ringer from Itford Hill from across the valley on Monday evening, May 8th. This gave us an advantage for our first EVM survey because a rough drawing could be prepared beforehand which we took with us early on Thursday morning, May 11th, and used it in the field to record the data.

We arrived at the site just after Sun rise to discover that this lovely double-ringed circle in oil seed rape was 'alive' with a positive electrostatic charge concentrated at specific areas. We realised that we had come across something strange but, in amongst the crop (especially oil seed rape that is 5ft tall) it was difficult to reflect on these readings and their position relative to the formation and, anyway, there was no time for such musings.

Walking in a straight line from west to east along one of the tramlines, the EVM registered zero volts across the outer flattened ring, the standing ring and the inner ring. It was at the innermost standing edge of this inner ring that negative electrostatic readings were first noted (-10 volts at F6).

Further negative readings were picked up on the adjacent standing edge, that is on the inner circle's western perimeter and a weird mixture of zero, positive and negative readings seemed to linger within the circle itself. The eastern side of the formation (F12 - F17) gave more negative results at the standing edges of both flattened rings. The downed crop within them, however, gave combinations of +10 volts and +20 volts. By now, an hour after Sunrise, we reasoned that we should be getting positive readings and that there was indeed something unusual about the first Sussex formation of the 1995 season and as predicted, the strangeness was predominately at the standing edges.

THE INNER CIRCLE

Time was not on our side and we knew that it would not be possible to take as many readings as we would have liked. (Lesson 1.- get there earlier next time!) We returned to the inner circle and decided to work from the centre outwards towards the perimeter.

It was an exciting moment when at F18, the standing edge of the circle's northern perimeter, the EVM readings registered as high as -40v and -50v on the scale. The standing edge on the other side of the circle only recorded -10v, so we went back to the F18 position and walked northwards through the formation. F20, the standing edge of the inside inner ring opposite F18 also had a strong negative charge and a few of the standing stalks were visibly 'pulling' towards the centre. This area was to become known as the 'hotspot'. The negative charge dissipated and went back to -10s on the outer standing edge of the inner ring and the inner standing edge of the outer ring. The formation's outermost perimeter, the outside edge of the outer ring, registered zero. We took a few more readings on the southern section of the outer ring and everything was zero. (Incidentally, all controls taken were zero as well).

It is true to say that at the time we were more or less indifferent to the results. It was only later when we could look at the diagram and wonder at the odd negative readings found at the standing edges, especially at the 'hotspot'.

THE SECOND SUSSEX FORMATION (figure 2) appeared at Lullington near Alfriston on May 31st and we were able to get into the field within 24 hours of its arrival. (Again, it was fortunate that the formation was close to home, unlike recent years when most of the Sussex formations turned up in West Sussex). The morning of Thursday June 1st was damp and chill, but it was a clear dawn with no cloud and only a very slight breeze blowing from the north west. The Sun was to rise at 04:48 hrs BST but this time we had no diagram prepared beforehand and so it was essential that we arrived in good time, early enough to make an approximate sketch of the basic outline in order to record the locations of the EVM readings.

At 04:20 hrs BST we were taking our first control readings, which registered zero, and entered this huge formation by one of the galaxy arms positioned to the south east. The Lullington formation reminded us very much of a spiral-armed galaxy with its small central circle surrounded by four large flattened rings having four arms attached to, and swirling out from, the outermost ring. Having made a rough sketch of the basic design, we went back to the south east arm and walked in a north-westerly direction through the lightly brushed barley.

This was very different to the oilseed rape double-ringer at Southease because some of the crop was only partially downed and several stems were standing upright in amongst the flattened rings. There was also the 'standing curtain effect' running through it, a line of unaffected barley along the tramline's edge looking rather like a thin curtain. It was obvious that we would have to take note of the various conditions as we recorded the readings.

The first group of negative readings came from a partially downed group of stems in the south east arm (F3), while both standing edges to either side registered zero. Walking downhill in a comparatively straight line, we entered the fourth ring where we obtained more negative readings - from its outer standing edge (F5) and also from a solitary upright stem within the ring; however, downed crop nearby registered zero as did the inner standing edge of this ring.

The third ring (i.e. the third ring out from the centre) gave -10v on its inner standing edge (F11) and from here all readings were negative (-10v and -20v) at every standing edge to the edge of the central circle (F11 to F17). An upright stem amongst downed crop in the second ring (F13) registered -10v but the partially downed crop in the very centre (F18) was zero. We were at the formation's centre and it was now 04:59 hrs BST, 11 minutes after Sunrise, although the Sun was still obscured by the slope of the surrounding hills.

We continued north west down through the formation and all the crop, both downed and standing, from the centre out to the perimeter registered zero (F19 to F29). At 05:21 hrs BST we were standing at the tip of the southern arm (F30) where there was an isolated positive reading of +10. The Sun was just beginning to break into the formation and in another 15 minutes, it would shine on two-thirds of it. All other readings along this arm were zero, however, apart from a -10 halfway along its length, again at a standing edge (F33).

 POSITION OF CONTROL READINGS

Readings were taken along three of the arms but only zero readings were obtained. At 05:40 hrs BST we left the field, having spent an hour and a half in the formation. It was time for home, breakfast and a shower before heading off to work feeling somewhat tired. Had there been more time, then we would have surveyed more of this massive formation but it seemed fairly conclusive that for some unknown reason, like Southease, the Lullington 'galaxy' registered negative EVM readings predominantly at standing edges. Negative readings were also to be found at some of the upright and partially upright stems amongst fallen crop. Why only the south-easterly side was affected in this way when the north-westerly side gave only zero is another mystery.

IT WAS FIVE WEEKS before we got into another formation and this time we had to venture all the way to East Grinstead, well over an hours drive away.

It is believed that this formation (figure 3) appeared during the night of Tuesday 27 June or Wednesday 28 June 1995 but we were not able to reach it until Friday evening 7 July, nine or ten days after its arrival. There's no doubt that the formation had been well trodden by this time, even though the lay of the crop still looked neat and the edges were still comparatively crisp. The farmer was kind enough to let us stay in his field overnight and so we were able to make an early start with the EVM on Saturday morning, taking the first reading at 04:28 hrs BST, 24 minutes before Sun rise.

(It may be worth mentioning that when the EVM was initially used at the edge of the field for control readings, it acted erratically and the needle shot off the scale beyond +100v. We reasoned that the close proximity of our vehicle could possibly have affected these initial readings (although the engine was quite cold) but in any case, it was decided to replace the batteries in the EVM and subsequent readings taken at the same location were zero).

Satisfied and equipped with brand new batteries, we noted a few control readings and then walked straight through the formation beginning at the edge of the double-ringed circle, taking 43 readings in all from standing edges, downed crop and standing rings. To our surprise, everything was zero, including controls. Whatever else we may have expected, this wasn't it.

The dawn was calm and peaceful, the sky was clear and there was no breeze. It occurred to us that on both previous occasions, at Southease and Lullington, we had taken electrostatic readings within a few days of their arrival and so we wondered whether timing might affect the results. Perhaps the East Grinstead formation was 'spent', as it were. Or was the background electrostatic field affected by Gatwick Airport only about 5 miles distant? We do not know the answers to these questions but I have to admit that we felt somewhat puzzled as we drove from the East Grinstead circles that morning.

THE CISSBURY FORMATION was to be our fourth survey. It appeared sometime during the night of Friday 14/15 July and because of the distance involved we were not able to survey it until the following weekend, Saturday morning 22 July. Fortunately, we were able to prepare a sketch beforehand since we helped to survey the formation and therefore knew its dimensions fairly well. We were somewhat apprehensive since, from our previous experience at East Grinstead, we thought that eight days was quite a long time lapse and hoped that we had not driven all this way, setting out at 02:30 hrs BST, just for a set of zero readings.

Sun rise was at 05:09 hrs BST and the first reading was taken at 04:28 hrs. Six EVM control readings (figure 4) were taken along the tram line leading into the formation, 15m apart from each other. All six readings gave high positive readings, averaging around +40v - not at all what we were expecting. This was a large formation and we spent some considerable time working across it taking readings from east to west (F1 - F36) and then from south to north (F37 - F65) (figure 5). The initial results indicated that this was not to be like the other formations. The east-west readings, whether upright crop, downed crop or crop from standing edges all registered high positive charge on the scale, as did further controls taken along a tram line to the western side of the formation.

Moving through the formation south to north, from the outer edge of the outer ring to the centre (F37 - F51), likewise began to give positive readings until the 4th ring (F42) where a group of zero readings was taken from the downed crop. It was 9 minutes after sunrise. Thereafter, the meter registered zero quite a few times and the centre readings (F51) gave three zeros and 2 +10v. From the centre to the northernmost outer edge, everything was zero. It was now 05:33 hrs BST.

When we arrived in the field at 04:10 hrs BST, there was a crisp breeze blowing in from the north which had dropped by half after an hour. It is now thought that this breeze was ionised and, therefore, may have been responsible for the high positive electrostatic readings.

At 05:35 hrs BST we decided to take a second set of formation readings. The formation was still in the shadow of the nearby hill to the east and, apart from the occasional -10v and a peculiar set of -10v on the standing edge of the innermost ring (F23), everything was zero. When the Sun broke into the formation at 05:47 hrs BST, the EVM began to register strong positive readings on both upright and downed crop, as it should do with the Sun on the plants. The last reading that morning was taken at 06:37 hrs BST and we had been in the field for two and a half hours.

It was exciting to learn that the formation 'grew' a few days later, gaining some sizeable additions. At the time it occurred to us that perhaps the high positive readings were the result of some 'unspent circlemaking force' held within the formation and that the additions were due to a sudden release of that force. This seemed even more likely after we took the EVM into the formation the next week and everything, the original rings and the additions, registered zero, as if the circlmaking force was finally 'spent'. Unless of course, the first readings were due to nothing more than ionised air?

This was our last EVM formation survey during the hot summer of 1995 and all four displayed their own distinctive EVM characteristics, each one so very different from the other raising many unanswered questions.

It would be interesting to discover the readings that occur in specific plants and areas, notably those near Ancient Sites throughout the 365 days of the year. We realise that the information presented here, even though it took many hours to accumulate, is only a minute percentage of what is necessary in order to understand this magical phenomenon...we look forward to 1996.....

The RETURN OF THE EASY BELIEVERS

By Matthew Williams

After reading the article on the subject of Crop Circles in the September issue of Encounters magazine I feel forced to write this counter article against many of the points raised. Often I have been tempted to do this but have decided at the last minute not to, because I did not want to dent the fragile belief systems of those that fraternise in the subject (Even though most hardened believers would not listen to this voice anyhow). I am forced to now because of unchecked and outrageous claims published in this and many other magazines.

Firstly the point was made that for the first time in many years, circles has appeared which "Researchers" agree are not hoaxed. I find this amusing because every year for the last 16 years there have been all manner of good, bad and ugly circles appearing and in each year there have been people who have proclaimed them absolute genuine/non-hoaxes throughout that time. I also know many researchers who throughout this time have considered most circles to be man made.

The writer Chris Kenworthy described his relief at the fact that the DNA and "Julia set" (Stonehenge) are genuine. I am far from as enthusiastic - as he is - for I went in both these circles very close to their creation and found that they exhibited no hallmarks of the genuine circle criteria that were set down by circle researchers such as Colin Andrews - i.e. uniform bent stems & non broken stems. This being the case, no matter how wonderful or thought provoking these circles appeared from the air - represented in photos and in diagrams - that they were not at all near the high criteria for the "genuine" article by, say, the Colin Andrews* standards.

I would like to point out that many stories which were generated about the DNA formation being "So neat" and "having no powder removed from the stems" are false. I found much in the way of damage to stems when I entered the circle and although there are those who are out there who will say "you weren't in there soon enough to be able to tell", I must disagree and say that careful examination of many areas of the circle, including areas where people hadn't walked revealed that there was uniform damage to the stems and I was in there at 13.00 hours on the day it formed - more than most researchers can claim. The problem with this claim is that it is unsubstantiated - nothing more than a neat story, with no hard evidence to back it up, and sadly as so often happens - the wilder the story, then the less chance there is of anybody bothering to try to take samples... So much in circle lore is based on such stories.

What I will say is that out of the two famed circles of this year, the DNA was at the very least a neat and tidy design, with as minimal damage to the crops as I have seen. The Stonehenge circle certainly did not fall into this category and was messy throughout.

ALIENS STOLE MY LOGIC

I am greatly shocked to hear that Mr Kenworthy, who describes himself as a "researcher" immediately makes the conclusion that crop circles are made by aliens. This has never been proven and although we (the researchers) all know that there are a handful of cases where UFOs have been seen NEAR crop circles, as yet no UFOs have ever been observed making them. So if a UFO was observed making them and if the UFO was simply a ball of light, then would this qualify that it was controlled by aliens? Could circles also be created by spirits entities, earth energies or military beam weapons testing, for after all a ball of light does have to mean aliens. Hmmm, it seems that the over-enthusiasm may have yet again crept in here, and those who proclaim the 'answers' are often proved wrong!

I am always wary about the use of Dowsing as an accurate tool for declaring circles as genuine. I speak from experience as I have been present whilst a number of human circle makers have been creating circles. This is a first time admission for me, one which will no doubt cause me many problems. These circles have never been "claimed" nor debunked, and I know of many who have dowsed them as "absolute genuine". This cannot be the case as I was there watching them being made! This to me throws a serious spanner in the works for those which make such claims but should it? I think not because surprisingly these circles have been dowsed by myself as genuine. A very puzzling problem! The dowsing societies are themselves quite aware of many other types of energies which can be picked by the rods and fool the doswer into thinking he is on the right track. No mention of the flaws and operations of dowsing were mentioned in Mr Kenworthys article so the reader simply has to suspend rational thinking systems in order to Believe what is being said.

Mr Kenworthy seems to imply that circle makers wish to make themselves part of the phenomenon. Well unfortunately they are - not only dowsing has proved their circle making to have strange effects, but samples sent to American laboratories have also proved positive. What we have, is a situation where the fake currency is as good as the real.

So where does this leave us? I would postulate that either human circle makers are drawn to make these circles at certain locations or that once the circle is created then it will be endowed with some energy by the non human circle makers, or that without realisation that the circle makers themselves charge the circle with energy. Far fetched as these theories may seem I can seem I see no other possible explanations. What this represents is equally as fascinating as Mr Kenworthys explanation but there is a snag...

STUBBORN

The reason most believer circle "researchers" reject the above possibility, of human circle makers being responsible, is because their arrogant and fragile opinions on WHO MAKES THE CIRCLES, cannot be swayed. They take great offence at anybody who comes up with alternative theories to counter their own. And since many people have many varying stubborn opinions, then this sees the, "Aliens made the circles", people doing battle with the, "Earth spirits made the circles", people and the, "Microwave energies from space", bunch. Whilst they all have their potted theories there is one thing they are all in complete agreement over - and that is: they all HATE THE HOAXERS! This hatred goes so far, so as to not allow them to listen to any explanations the human circle makers (Hoaxers) have as to why or how they made the circles and it is this turning away from good evidence is both non-scientific and bigoted in my opinion.

Circle researchers being deeply offended by Hoaxing does not allow them to see that some of the better circles are indeed made by people and not one researcher that I know of has ever theorised and subsequently researched why humans can create circles which have these dowsable and cell changing properties. They will even go as far as to hide damning evidence which will prove this and have in many cases exaggerated claims of how fantastic and non human-replicable a circle is in order to try to sway public opinion in the media on how non human circle makers must have been involved. These people are trying to create a phenomena based on their own personal beliefs and dogmas and not on the evidence which stares them in the face!

PSEUDO SCIENCE

Pseudo science is often employed in an attempt to confuse the public into believing the incredulous evidence - pseudo science which is never verified by real science I should add. One can enter a circle and say "I had a headache", "My camera broke down", "My batteries discharged" or "I was cured of an illness", and this is seen as proof of the circles genuine power. Well I have seen people get headaches in hoax circles. I have shown many people why their equipment has broken down (and subsequently fixed this equipment). I have also shown so many people that broken equipment is nothing more than discharged batteries at or near crop circles and deduced that these people do not know how to charge or test battery levels anyhow **.

I have also been witness to miraculous healings via the power of suggestion and also through the use of hypnosis. This is a well known phenomena and I believe that through an elated wish to believe in the crop circles powers, many who visit them get their wishes granted - or sometimes adverse effects experienced - in many ways. One only need look at cult organisations use of suggestion techniques for evidence of this. I have even seen people break down and swear that energies are nearly causing people to faint in the most pathetic and confirmed hoaxed circles.

Please don't think I am against crop circles. I love them, I just have a different view from certain researchers as to where they come from. If people get a good vibe from a hoaxed circle, go with it, I say!

SIGNALS

A point was made to there being a radio signal present in the Eastfield, Pewsey, 1996 DNA crop circle which did not appear outside the circle but did appear to the north and south. No preface was given as to the normality of this effect and other possible explanations. The region of 1500Mhz is the Microwave band. Microwaves go in straight lines and are used, as is stated in radio literature as "Point to Point Relay Beacon" frequencies. This is why you cannot point your satellite dish just anywhere in the sky - because Microwaves operate along straight beams.

It is quite possible the localisation of the above effect was due to interference patterns (class 101 of physics...), black spots or many other well known atmospheric effects which cause such signal peaking - especially in the strange effect world of Microwave radio! If there was a localised swamping of this signal that centering near the circle, it would also appear at many points along the north/south line that the researcher Mr Vigay was on and he would find this if he kept on walking and sampling.

Any radio wave of significant strength will have effects on other electrical equipment. Low frequencies are not as effective as high frequencies for this type of interference but the 1500Mhz frequency we had here is indeed a very high frequency. If the signal is centred near the circle in this way would interfere with radio and TV signals. A hand held scanner is NOT a scientific piece of equipment and will easily be upset by such signals. (See harmonics and cross talk interference caused by strong radio signals in any radio book.) An electrostatic volt meter will certainly be effected due to its high sensitivity nature. You only have to try using a mobile phone near such an instrument to see the effect (mobile phones operate at 800-1000Mhz so won't be quite so effective as the 1500Mhz signal that was present but will show quite clearly the problems associated with this sort of sampling).

Even more important is that to operate cheap equipment will obviously cause you problems. Devices such as scanners and frequency counters are not test devices! Even worse, I know that some of the devices used by the researchers in question are sold in the back of UFO magazines as £40 UFO detectors and are totally untested and totally unreliable. This does make a shambles of so called scientific research.

AMATEUR SCIENTISTS or "Oh the needles moving - we don't know what it means but it must mean the something" type logic...

To operate even any test equipment without being a scientist and fully versed in all the operations and variances of such equipment, would by definition invalidate any results gathered and render them preliminary and inconclusive (and certainly could never be used in a courtroom...).

One important point is that crop and soil have no ability to store a energetic charge. Crop is not a battery and unless radioactive substances are smeared onto the crop, or dug into the soil, no readings of energies could ever be taken. This means that the signals and readings do not come from the crop circles themselves, nor the earth and soil - they come from the air. What does that tell you?

Before I leave the section of amateur science I should point out that I have seen some of the "Scientific Sampler" brigade, who collect and send samples from crop-circles and send them for analysis to the United States, not only handling the samples with their hands, but letting these samples be passed around in groups of people. These samples are only dried out (required for sending to the laboratories) at randomly selected times, and nobody had studied the effects of trans-atlantic flight on these samples, which show up "amazing results" even when collected from the worst of hoax circles.

URBAN MYTH

The Chinese whisper syndrome operates as the basis for spreading information about crop circles and their locations amongst researchers. Researchers, who by definition must be believers - else skeptics or debunkers, hear the ever increasingly wild rumours about the circles powers and pass it on. This is how the urban myth of the crop circle has been perpetuated. As researcher passes story to researcher, the story gains extra bits of information and is told in a more assured manner. The strength of the rumour mill is such, that, even the public have started to believe that there must be something paranormal, or even alien, about the circles. Everyone takes other peoples words for granted and the don't check out claims for themselves.

MONEY

Where there is a phenomena there is money. Crop circles are big business for a select few. These few seem prepared to say anything that is required of them to keep in the public speaking circuit. Bear in mind that if you preach "Circles are fake" to the believers, then you are never asked to speak again. This can seriously impede your chances of making money from the subject, so some unscrupulous sorts have become the "Oxford Street" con merchants of the crop circle world - they will sell you and tell you any old crap. And under the rules of Caveat Emptor - or let the buyer beware - you are left to find out for yourself, afterwards, that the goods may be spoiled.

Quite unbelievable, but true, is the fact that some researchers give two different stories on either sides of the Atlantic, more fantastic stories for the Americans (who cannot research the UK subject) and less fantastic stories for the British counterparts who may not stand for the baloney! Yes folks, it's all true but for legal reasons I dare not name names taking part in these activities.

Still, if you are a heavy believer who likes pseudo science then disregard any of the above which I have just said, and enjoy the subject which you invent, for some are determined to turn crop circles into a religion. Oh yes, dowsing is 100% positive proof too! Bzzzt. Time to wake up!

There is a real phenomena, but it's time for the "researchers" to define properly and truthfully just what it is! I have no problem with speculation as long as it is clearly labeled as such - and in the named article it is clearly NOT.

* (Away from the article we learn that Colin too has changed and lowered his standards for he too overlooks his original criteria and declares them genuine. Did Colin re-write his own criteria without telling us? See his book Circular Evidence.)

** (Many people who visit crop circles are campers or have caravans. They are unaware of the factors such as heat/cold discharge effect on nicad batteries. Camping also puts electrical equipment at risk through condensation after the night cold. Charging batteries at campsites can be fraught with Dew problems on terminals, inside chargers, etc. Rather than allow proper acclimatisation periods for their equipment, people tend to go racing into crop circles and then have battery discharges, equipment failure, tape snapping/wrapping in the camera (which is caused by Dew on the video head), buttons sticking and all other problems. Too many explainable effects can cause these things the researchers should take time to look at equipment carefully with qualified engineers before declaring malfunctions as effects of crop circle powers. Standard photo cameras can also be affected some of the same ways. It is always funny that sensitive and delicate devices, such as cameras, should be drained of battery power or malfunction, whilst battery powered watches and other sealed devices continue to work!

THE DRAGON, THE BEAST & THE WHORE OF BABYLON

By Jonathan Hurst

Earth is quite an unusual planet compared to other worlds in the cosmos. Rarely does a planet support more than one species of human, with such a diversity in culture and ideology. This is because Earth is one of a group of planets that have allowed themselves to be used specifically for the outworking of interplanetary karma, incurred between various intelligent races of the galaxy. Thus, Earth has gained a reputation for being one of the best Rehabilitation Centres in the cosmos.

My previous article, ETs, Ufology & Ancient History, gave information concerning the main groups of galactic humans that have settled on Earth. In this article I shall focus specifically on the one stemming from Orion, since they have much to do with what is happening around the globe today.

THE DRAGON

The Orion Empire, also known as the Dragon, was the greatest tyranny this galaxy has ever known. Beginning 800,000 years ago, many wars were waged between the Empire and worlds it sought to conquer. Fortunately, the Dragon was overpowered by a massive ET alliance about 170,000 years ago.

For a long time before the wars, the Dragon Empire was restricted to six star systems within the Orion Nebula. However, many of its planets became increasingly affected by the gases and radiations of the nebula, which made the land quite inhospitable to humans. This forced the Empire to extend its domain and consider other systems for colonisation. Although there was one problem: most other hospitable planets in the area were already inhabited by other peoples. Thus began the great war of Orion.

"And there was war in heaven. Michael and his angels fought against the Dragon, and the Dragon fought and his angels, and prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven.

"And the great Dragon was cast out, that old Serpent called the Devil and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world. He was cast out into the Earth and his angels were cast out with him." (Book of Revelation 12:7-9)

I believe the above quote is a direct reference to the Orion Conflict and its resolution.

At the end of the conflict there was a great migration of spiritual and physical Orions to the planet Earth (see previous article). Around 40% of humans presently living here are reincarnations of these Orions - termed 'fallen angels' in the Bible. The names Devil and Satan are biblical references to the Orion Emperor (also incarnate here). The Empire used to clone its soldiers and important figures. The Emperor was seemingly thousands of years old possessing an unbroken chain of consciousness that spread over many clones, each living around 200 years.

There are many similarities between science-fiction and what occurred in Orion. The Empire in Star Wars and the Klingons in Star Trek were probably both inspired by vague memories of that time. Also, the television series Logan's Run could have been a depiction of the Dragon Empire. Even those characters called the Sandmen, seemed to be inspired by the notorious Men in Black (who play similar role in past Orion, chasing 'runners' that have time-travelled into our present).

The regime of the Orion Empire was essentially one of power through control. Everybody would be implanted with crystalline receptors that forced to obey the dictations of a huge central computer, the form of a crystal moon, that would have each person under constant surveillance. Some planets were used by the Empire as breeding colonies, where the soldiers would take vacations. Often from the battleships which would constantly patrol the Orion system, being directed to planets next on the list of invasion. Technological advancement far outweighed the spiritual.

THE BEAST

I believe the Beast, mentioned in the Book of Revelation, is a metaphor for the Power Elite group of shadowy individuals who occupy the top of the corporate pyramid. On a US dollar bill you will see a diagram of a pyramid with the top separated from the bottom. The upper half is known as the All Seeing Eye, and symbolises this elite. Their ranks include senior members of the political, intelligence, military, industrial, economic, scientific, religious, and occult factions of society. All of whom are hidden from the public eye, with their public representatives serving as mere puppets.

This Elite has ultimate control over all mainstream establishments, and therefore the world. Most of them are reincarnates from the Orion Empire, otherwise under that influence (both incarnate and discarnate sources). Former members of the Dragon Empire were only to remain earthbound for a set length of time, now coming to an end. "Therefore rejoice, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and of the sea! For the Devil is come down to you, having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time." (Revelation, 12:12)

In this age of great change and transformation, there is to be a time of karmic sort-out when the sheep shall be divided from the goats'. This is what the Bible calls the Day of Judgement. Each of us shall be judged by our own spirit, and many of those once part of the Orion Empire will depart from the Earth. Some planets more appropriate to their level of development, while others will be allowed to return from whence they came in Orion.

THE WHORE OF BABYLON

The Book of Revelation, in particular Chapter 17, talks about a 'Whore of Babylon' and many believe this to be a metaphor for the Roman Catholic Church - mother of all Christian denominations.

"And there came one of the seven angels which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me: Come hither, I will show unto thee the judgment of the great Whore that sitteth upon many waters;

"With whom the kings of the Earth have committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the Earth have been made drunk with the wine of her fornication.

"So he carried me away in the spirit into the wilderness, and I saw a woman sit upon a scarlet coloured Beast, full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.

"And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet colour, and decked with gold and precious stones and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand full of abominations and filthiness of her fornication.

"And upon her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.

"And I saw the woman drunken with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus; and when I saw her, I wondered with great admiration." (Revelation, 17:1-6)

I suspect that the "seven heads" represent the seven hills of Rome, and the "ten horns" have something to do with ten rulers.

The Whore is indeed "drunken with the blood of the saints" (latter word meaning Christians), as the Church is based on nothing but corruption and falsification of Jesus' teachings. The Bible was written by the Church, not the true followers of Jesus. Their words have been distorted beyond recognition, and many important gospels were not even included in the canon - having either been destroyed or hidden. Fortunately, some of these have been uncovered; yet the Church fails to reassess its doctrine in light of these. Old handwritten Bibles are proof of how much has been rewritten and altered. Incredibly, the Church still publishes 'revised editions' of the Bible even today!

Thankfully, the Book of Revelation doesn't seem to have suffered too much alteration. Probably because the Church failed to decipher its real message behind the cryptic metaphor - which could have been a deliberate safeguard. How ironic that, of all the gospels that were suppressed, the Church chose to retain one in which their own fate was sealed.

There are numerous prophets that have foretold the development of the Church with amazing accuracy. In the earlier part of the 12th century, Saint Malachy issued a prophecy concerning the line of popes that would follow in succession of Celestine II, from 1143 until the end of Catholicism.

Each pope was assigned a motto. For example, that of the hundredth successor, Gregory XIV (Pope from 1831 to 1846) was 'From Balnes in Etruria'. Gregory XIV was a member of the Camaldolite Order, whose centre was in the town of Balnes in Etruria!

Another example is Innocent XII, Pope from 1691 to 1700. He was given the motto 'The Rake at the Door'. His name, Rastello, meant 'rake' in Italian.

John Paul II, the present Pope, was attributed the motto 'The Work of the Sun'. This could be a reference to his extensive travelling, more than any other pope, throughout hot countries. He is the 110th successor of Celestine II, and there are apparently only two more to follow.

Another prophet well-known for her prophecies concerning the end of Catholicism (and indeed the world as we know it) is Mary, the mother of Jesus. She has appeared to a great number of people throughout the world, and is becoming more frequent. In 1846 a couple of young shepherds at La Salette, in the Dauphine Alps, claimed an apparition of Mary informed them that "the heads, the leaders of the people of God have neglected prayer and penance and the Demon has obscured their intelligence." Also, amongst other warnings, that "the Church will have a terrible crisis."

Joachim de Flore, a 12th-century sage, poet and philosopher, gave the following prophecy: "Rome, town bereft of all Christian discipline, is the source of all abominations of Christianity, she it is who will first be stricken by the judgment of God."

CONCLUSION

Through deceit and oppression, Christianity has made itself the greatest controller of minds in the world today. However, as a consequence of the information explosion, the public is coming to realise that the Church is not as puritanical as she would have us believe. Large cracks are beginning to appear in the ageing disguise worn by the so-called Whore of Babylon, and her arrogance and lust have become her weaknesses.

It is a fact that church congregations are diminishing, while the community of New Agers is on the increase. No doubt, in part due to the growing attention placed on the paranormal by the mainstream media during recent years. Also, as a result of fact-based fiction such as The X-Files and Babylon 5. (Yes, some of the ETs in the latter television series do bear a close resemblance to real ones - both in physiology and philosophy.)

It is only a matter of time before the benevolent ETs initiate the next phase of their indoctrination programme - mass, overt contact. This they will have to do in order to expose and remove the negative ET presence, which also has plans to become more overt in its operations.

Humanity should hopefully receive assistance throughout the coming days of catastrophe; especially as the Earth is likely to experience another orbital shift, closer to the sun. Many individuals have had visions of huge spaceships filling the skies, ready to temporarily evacuate areas in need. These are indeed the days of Revelation, when all cover-ups and conspiracies shall be exposed.

The world is changing for the better - what harm can there be in believing this? We are what we think, so why not think ourselves anew and start again; this time with greater strength and wisdom gained through our own experience as a struggling race.

After the sorting of the sheep from the goats, things should be much easier. I know we can make it.

THE TRUTHSEEKERS INTERVIEW

Robert O' Dean

By Matthew Williams

MW: I am Matthew Williams and I am here to interview Mr Bob Dean. Hello Bob.

BD: Hello Matthew.

MW: Well Bob, I understand that you have a bit of an interesting military career. I wonder if you can tell us a little about that.

BD: I think interesting is a bit of an understatement. I spent 27 years on active duty in the United States Army. I was in the Infantry, Special Forces, Special Operations. I have joking said that I have been places that I should not have been, and I have seen things that I should not have seen and done things that I should not have done; but that's history now. I worked as loyally as I knew how during the Cold War years. I led Infantry troops in combat in Korea in 1951 and I led combat troops in Vietnam in the year 1969.

You say interesting, and I guess it was. Harrowing is another way to look at it. Certainly the most exciting part of my career was when I was assigned to the Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe, SHAPE, as it was known. I was assigned there in 1963, and it was one of those plum assignments that you get from time to time. It was an opportunity for me and my family to go to Paris, for my kids to go to school in Paris - it was one of those opportunities that you just don't pass up. So I applied for this and was accepted.

In 1963 I went off to Paris. I arrived with a Top Secret clearance and was immediately assigned to the Supreme Headquarters Operation Centre (SHOC). From that point onwards I was immediately upgraded in my security rating to Cosmic Top Secret and I worked in the War Room.

In 1963 I heard of a study which had been initiated in 1961. It was intriguing. I got to hear about it because everyone at shape was talking about it and we military types do tend to gossip a lot. It mostly intrigued me because it was dealing with UFOs, or flying saucers as they were sometimes known. What was happening at SHAPE, in those cold war years, was that large numbers of these objects were flying over Europe and mostly out of the Warsaw Pact area. They would fly to the west over Europe and they would fly very high and fast, and it was very obvious that they were under intelligent control.

It became very apparent to the Soviets and NATO people that this was very unusual. For a time the Soviets thought they belonged to us (NATO), and for a time we thought that they belonged to them. The feats of technology which those craft displayed were so advanced that it became clear, after a time, that both the Soviets and NATO did not possess the level of technology to make those craft. I must also tell you, in all honesty, that even in 1996 we do not possess the technology to make those kinds of craft from scratch.

So an incident occurred in the early morning hours of 2nd February 1961 where a large number of these objects came over. The Soviets came on alert and the Allies went on alert and Berlin closed it's borders - they did this all the time anyway. I suppose the term that you might use to describe the situation is that it was "a bit dicey". Here we are, in those cold war years, with our fingers on the triggers and our thumbs on the buttons. Now what we didn't want at that time, was to start a war for the wrong reasons at the wrong time and it was a very stressful situation.

After that incident Air Marshall Sir Thomas Pike, Deputy Supreme Allied Commander (SAC) at the time, ordered a study of the situation and what these things are doing in our skies. He wanted to know if they were not Soviets and they were not "ours" then who or what were they. They started the study in 1961 and it was a very focused and very directed study. They titled it "THE ASSESSMENT", and subtitled it "An evaluation of a possible military threat to Allied forces in central Europe. It was underway when I arrived, and it was concluded in 1964.

From 1964, when I got to see it, I couldn't back away from it. I got to see it when, out in those early morning hours when I had those long shifts, when the coffee was too black to drink and when you had read all of those old magazines - An airforce controller pulled it out of the vault and put it on the desk in front of me and said "here that will wake you up". Well Matthew, that didn't just wake me up... It changed my life. I used to look at it with every opportunity I could get, right from when I first saw it, to the time when I left SHAPE in 1967.

When I saw it, I was on 12 hour shifts in there - I had the COSMIC clearance. I saw it and noted that copy number one was given to the Secretary General NATO, copy 2 went to my boss - General Lenny Lemnitzer who was the SACEUR and copy number three was placed in the vault in SHOC. There were only 15 copies made.

The document was itself about 1 inch thick, but was supported with an annexes which were 8 inches thick. It was classified Top Secret and was probably the most sensitive document that SHAPE had ever been involved with. Once I began to study it, it became clear to me that there was more to it than who are they, why are they in our skies and what is happening here. The conclusions were literally earth shaking. To me in those years, when I was a rather no nonsense, career minded officer - and to hear these things was quite shocking.

MW: So what exactly was in the Assessment - can you describe it's contents.

BD: Well before I do that I had better tell you about the annexes. There were ten of them, in all. They covered meteorology, electronics, RADAR - there was some very good and hard science in this study. Included in the hard science, the electromagnetic effects and so on, was a section titled "Psychological Response", another titled "Sociological Impact" and there was another annexe - and this struck me later on as being possibly the most important annexe of all - this was "The Theological Implications".

There was a section describing the reasons for the study, and that was the military implications. They concluded that whoever they were, or are, were malevolent or hostile. It would have been over a long time ago and that was one of the primary reasons for the study in the first place.

They determined that some kind of a programme had been underway for a very long time. They concluded this from a historical perspective. They had people from Oxford and Cambridge and all the Universities all over Europe looking into the perspective here. They found out that this is not something new. Apparently this has been going on for a very long time. The study concluded that we had been visited, if not for hundreds of years, then for thousands of years.

So 1 - apparently there was no threat involved. No 2 - A long range survey of some kind was being conducted here. 3 - There were several different groups involved. At the time I was at SHAPE, there were four different, high tech, civilisations involved in this programme. That was kind of shocking to think of. Out of the four groups that we knew of, in 1964, one group looked exactly like we do. I mean exactly! I would like to turn that around and say that we look exactly like them, because I think there is a reason for this.

This bothered the Generals and Admirals more than anything else. We military, you might say, are always paranoid and if we weren't, then we were trained to be so. It was part of our game. The idea that there could be an extraterrestrial intelligence in our midst and that they could sit next to you on a plane, or on a bus and you would never know, unless they wanted to tell you - in most cases they wouldn't. This bothered the military guys more than anything else. I remember one day at lunch, in the NAAFI cafeteria, comments were passed like, "Do you think that they could be walking up and down the corridors of SHAPE headquarters?" An American said, "Do you realise that they could be walking up and down the hallways of the Pentagon. There was an American Lieutenant Colonel at lunch that day and he said, "Do you realise that these guys could even be in the White House."

There was a little forced laughter at that point because most of us had our misgivings about who was in the White House at that time. I wont go into it here though (laughs).

After they had made all their conclusions in the report, as I said 15 copies were made and sent out. One of the final suggestions made was that the study should go on and if funds could be allocated by the SACEUR. This meant that the study would continue past 1964 which is when the report was published. The study I believe is still underway.

I believe that even though the study goes on, that we still do not know as much as we would like to know about the whole situation.

MW: I understand that similar studies may have been carried out by various governments. Was the assessment one of these other projects. Was there a deeper connection.

BD: When we concluded in 1964, we were dealing with mainly SHAPE territory. The SHAPE theatre was from northern Norway, all the way south to Turkey. I was to learn later when I was on other assignments around the world that your government and mine, the MOD and Dept of Defence, had reached very similar conclusions. Indeed they had reached some of the same conclusions as early as 1949. So the study by SHAPE was simply an in-house study for NATO, but your country and mine had known the facts as early as 1949.

You have probably heard about the stories of the crashes. You have probably heard the stories about Roswell.

MW: Yes

BD: Well Roswell was one of about a dozen other incidents that I knew about during my years in the military. Roswell happens to be one of the more famous ones involving living creatures with small bodies. So they knew in '49 and they are not sharing it. They are still not sharing it. This still today is one of the most highly classified subjects there is! Your government and mine made a decision that the people, the average persons, are simply not prepared for the impact of this reality.

MW: So that is the main reason they are not giving the information?

BD: I think so. The study stated that the average person is just not prepared at this time to deal with this reality. Let me explain.

First of all we are not alone, we have never been alone, we have never been alone and we are part of an infinite number of forms of intelligent life. We are members of an intergalactic community of intelligent life. The universe is simply teeming with life. I disagree with the decision that was made not to tell the people. Now all those years in the military I had the classification -the Top Secret clearance - and I will probably go to my grave carrying secrets that I will never divulge. Matthew I have got to tell you that this secret - this subject - in my opinion is so important that I am purposefully violating my security oath to share it and talk about what I have seen, because I think the subject is so important. I felt that people have a need to know and a right to know the truth.

My justification for doing what I do and saying all of this is because I feel that if people were to understand that we are not alone, that we have never been alone, that we are part of this infinite community of life, that it is this knowledge that might for the first time in our history bring about an expansion of consciousness and may be able to make us look at ourselves as one people - it will stop us looking at ourselves as White, Black, Brown or whatever. Or it will stop us thinking of ourselves as Jewish, Muslim, Hindu or Christian and start to make us seen as one people, one race, from one planet with one future. That's my hope.

MW: So why do you feel that they are allowing you to give away their Top Secrets.

BD: I'm not the only one. You may or may not know that recently one of our top astronauts, Gordon Cooper, has recently come out of the closet on this issue. He has told the whole story. Gordon has said basically the same thing as I have said, that when he was in the military and when he was an astronaut we knew and everyone knew that this situation was real.

So why are they letting me and a few others get away with this? I have a nagging suspicion that somewhere at some level of our government, someone has made a decision to continue to do this because we are doing it in a non threatening way. I have never had anyone run from the theatre when I am sharing this information. I think that they are letting us do it because they want to see how the people respond. I have no illusions, what so ever, about what could be done to keep me quiet.

I am getting old now...

MW: How old are you.

BD: I am 67 now, but I am at a point in my life where I don't much care. I don't worry about threats as I have seen too much and been too many places. I can't be intimidated although they have tried gently. I have had the threatening phone calls. I have had the black helicopter flying over my house regularly. I have been followed and my phone has been tapped. I also know that they could stop me in a minute if they wanted to.

MW: Its good that you are trying to get this information out-there and you are not afraid. What you said minute ago, that we are part of a galactic community and that knowledge of this could perhaps bring the peoples of the world together reminds me of a speech I heard given by President Reagan in which he stated, that an alien threat could unite the world through military force. Obviously he was using the military slant and alien threat instead of a peaceful one. Do you know about this.

BD: Regan, if I am correct, made about three statements on this subject. He even made one statement to the United Nations. Also after he did it then Gorbachev did it. I think both of them in their own way were trying to subtly tell people. I am also reminded of a remark he made some years ago to the movie director Steven Spielberg by then president Ronald Regan. Spielberg made a few films on the subject of UFOs and one of these was Close Encounters of the Third Kind - a very well made and excellent film. There was a private showing of this film at the oval office in Washington with Spielberg present and after the film was over Regan was heard to comment to Spielberg that there were only five, perhaps six people in this room, who "knew how true this movie is."

You see, there are a number of our leaders who have, in a subtle way, tried to get us to an understanding of the greater view.

MW: If I can take you back to the point about your clearances. You mentioned Top Secret and then COSMIC Top Secret. Can you explain what COSMIC means and is there some sort of connection between the name and the subject matter you were privy to.

BD: I see your point. Well I was very lucky to have top level security classifications through most of my career. I had had a number of sensitive assignments and had seen a few things that I shouldn't have. I had applied for and received a Top Secret level of access. Still, clearance levels and access will heavily depend on your assignment and whether you need it. You might go to one assignment where all you need is Secret, then another which doesn't require any security level at all. When I went to SHAPE to work in the war room - the place we called SHOC - you had to have a high level of clearance. Now people have asked me that question before, in is there a subtle and secret meaning to the name COSMIC and I'm not sure who actually selected that. I think it must have been selected many years ago. Perhaps somebody liked the sound of it - it sounds quite powerful, or really the most secret of all. It certainly was the highest level of classification in SHAPE. It was when I arrived and still is today.

Recently I visited SHAPE at its new location, outside of Brussels. I spend a whole afternoon reminiscing and going through the placers that I help set up and move in 1967. I found out that COSMIC was and still is the highest level of access from an American source who will remain unnamed. I found out that the SHAPE Assessment was still in the files and it was still classified COSMIC and was still the most sensitive file that NATO has today. That intrigued me.

MW: What interests me is somebody like yourself who has openly committed yourself to going public on this information and clearly breaking your security oath, get to go back inside SHAPE headquarters. Why would they let you back in and fraternise with the current staff?

BD: Well I guess I must try to clarify that for you. When I retired at the end of my military career, I retired as Command Sergeant Major. I retired with honours, with a lot of awards and medals - although that's not particularly important. I had a very high rank, in fact the highest enlisted rank that you can have. For many years I had also had the highest security classification that you can have. I had nothing but good awards and recommendations and good records. I retired with honour, so I carry with me identification with me which reflects that. So I can travel the world like that, pretty much so.

I can visit military headquarters even today, to visit old friends, check in with the current Command Sergeant and I am always made welcome. It's kind of like the old boys network, and the British army has it as well. It's like a RSN will be given respect and honour and will be allowed to come and go as he wants.

When I got there at SHAPE, I showed my identification and passports and I was allowed in. It was simple. The authorities checked me out on the computers, they saw me on there. They gave me a pass and I spent the entire afternoon.

MW: So somebody must be happy for you to be doing what you are doing, else this would surely not be allowed - it would seem that way.

BD: I have no doubt that they know exactly what I am saying and doing. At this moment, sitting here at this interview, I have no doubt that my authorities have an exact idea of what I am doing and saying. The very fact that I am getting away with it. I think somebody has decided that what I do has a certain value.

They could stop me at the moment. They could stop me anytime. There are a number of ways.

MW: Well I am still fascinated by what you have read in the assessment and I would now like to know what has convinced you that the Assessment itself is real - what evidence is there that stands out heads above the rest, and what personal experiences have you had to convince you completely, if any?

BD: Well it's important for you to understand that, for me, the assessment was only a beginning. I returned home in the late summer of 1967. My exposure to the study and, well, my god, I practically memorised parts of it - this was just the beginning for me. It launched me into what I call a 30 year synthesis. I was so curious that I wanted to know more. It told me a great deal but it was tantalising in the things it didn't say. So I wanted more and more. I don't think that I know anybody who has been involved in this and doesn't want more.

As I said, I launched a 30 year synthesis, which I am still conducting. I am still coming to terms with what is happening, why is it happening and what does it mean. The SHAPE study was simply an appetiser. I have spent the rest of my life collecting and analysing, weighing, sifting pieces of information. I really have been, in a sense, obsessed. Matthew I do not know how you can be exposed to some of this information and not be so.

There is something else that I must clarify for you. When I began my research, like the study in '64 I was concerned with why are they here, and what is it all about. Over the years it has become clear to me that there is a lot more to this than just that. When I retired from the military in 1976 I found out that we not only knew of 4 different groups, we knew of 12! A dozen separate groups, separate civilisations. The question is that in 1976 we were not just dealing with interstellar visitation, nor were we dealing with intergalactic visitation but that we were dealing with dealing with all of the above, but apparently the evidence that we have collected by that time, and we had loads of factual data, showed that we were also dealing with an interdimensional intelligence. Its hard enough to get a physicist to explain to you what another dimension might be. I am told that Einstein talked about a fourth dimension of space time. Our young theoretical physicists today say that we know of at least 10 separate dimensions. I am not enough of a scientist or astronomer to even start to think about that.

Some of the interdimensional beings are so advanced that they seem to have the ability to manipulate matter and time. That has been demonstrated and repeated. Now don't you think that this really shakes up our politicians and military officials. Matthew we are dealing with intelligences that could be up to a million years in advance of our own. Try to imagine what a race or society with technology would be like - how far in advance of us!

We are only just starting to understand the basics of such knowledge and we are only scratching the surface. We are starting to spread our wings as it were. This is why I think the lid is still being kept on and held tightly down because I just don't think that people cannot handle this thing, but they just don't know enough about it themselves. If they were to go on TV tomorrow and announce this thing, of alien visitation, then that will be a spark which will light a fire. Do you realise what sorts of question people will be asking. I don't think that your government and mine could answer those questions.

One person said to me about this point that it is not a problem of telling them what we do know, but more a problem of telling them what we don't know. How do you do that?

MW: If we are dealing with a civilisation which obviously has it's own plans and agendas, can we look forward to themselves making contact or telling us these things by going directly to the people?

BD: I do indeed. I think that's an excellent question. I have watched for many years now and have waited for 40 years for the governments to tell the people. My constitutional system means that people are supposed to be the government. The constitution starts with the words "We the people".

I have waited for so long for the governments to tell people the truth. I think now that our friends out there have an agenda of their own because I have watched that develop over the years. Whatever the case there is continuing increasing contact. Look what is happening over Mexico city - an increasing wave of UFO activity that that been there in 1991.

MW: For readers purposes can you explain a little of this.

BD: Well after the famous solar eclipse in 1991 when half the world was in Mexico city looking up and photographing the eclipse with stills and video cameras, from that moment on the skies seemed to be filled literally with UFO's. Saucers, disks and enormous craft such as cigar shaped objects - some of which are up to a mile in length. The skies over Mexico have literally filled with hardware since 1991. Its on the TV and front page news in Mexico. I have brought with me a collection of photographs which were taken by the Mexican military authorities, what are known as "The Federales". Amazing pictures, videos taken in both daylight and night time. They have been analysed by many experts and found to be genuine.

Yet not one paper in the UK or USA newspapers, not one bit of this amazing news that Mexicans are talking about on a daily basis. Here's something in Mexico where I believe they are making a very definite effort to show themselves. They fly all over Mexico city and even involve themselves in the Mexico Military Parade and Airshow day - this was seen on film.

MW: Well this is certainly amazing news. Why doesn't it happen elsewhere?

BD: I would love to be in an American city the first time it happens there, during the daylight hours. I would just know how Dan Rather will deal with that on the evening news.

Don't get me wrong, I am no prophet or anything, but I have seen a developing process of these UFO's showing themselves over the years and the flap over Mexico city is just a part of this. I think that we are going to see large numbers of objects, saucers. I think it has already begun with large triangles being seen. Now very often they appear at night. A few years ago in the Hudson valley we had lots of them, thousands of people saw them.

They have been seen hovering over police cars in Belgium. All over Europe they have been seen. They usually have a set of corner lights and then a central red light in the middle of the triangle. The central light has been seen to detach and fly off and then return and re attach to the underneath of the craft. I believe this is all part of an inculcation, a gentle learning process.

This is to try to get people to say, "hey this is real, this is happening". It helps them understand that it is not part of science fiction or some fantasy.

MW: We are seeing small reports of these appearing in our newspapers... Still with such mass sighting over places such as Mexico and Belgium, how do the governments of those countries react to this?

BD: Well that is an area that I am very angry about. I frankly resent the fact that the Mexican government and it's media are more honest than my government are about it's own situation. Its on the evening news, it's in the papers and there are specialists who are taking the subject seriously and are studying it.

I resent that this is happening in Japan - the military were very forthcoming. Belgium military were very forthcoming with their information - the Chief Of Staff for the Belgium Air Force went on TV and explained that pilots were monitoring these objects. They said that they have them film and on RADAR. In a gesture of honesty and openness they told the people what was happening and the Belgium people didn't go mad and run into the streets!

Matthew, that bothers me; I expect your and my country to take the lead in this sort of thing. I expect Britain and the US to be of the more honest governments. It seems to me that we have an obligation to our people to be honest and open. Even the Soviets these days are more open and honest about this than we are in London or Washington! And that bothers me a lot. That shouldn't happen.

This coming July in Japan, the Japanese plans to open the worlds first UFO museum in the city of Hakiue. The museum is literally constructed by 53 million dollars of Japanese government money. A recent Prime Minister had a cheque written and gave it to the city of Hakiue. Rumour has it that when it opens it is going to be earth shaking because when the Japanese do something, then they do it quite well. A museum which is probably going to include, if the rumours are correct, a 35 foot disk, which is going to be an exhibit. There is also a rumour that they also have got a number of small bodies on ice which they will be showing.

MW: This is to be a wait and see thing?

BD: Well I plan to be there, I wouldn't miss this for the world. If the rumours are correct then it will blow the lid off this thing. But damn it, your and my country should be doing this! The funny thing is that they are planning to open the museum on the 4th of July. I don't think that this is by accident. I believe that is a rather subtle Oriental way of getting our attention.

[It transpires that since the interview took place the museum has indeed been opened. It seems that the extraordinary exhibits were not placed. Some say that this is because the Japanese had last minute thoughts about the admission or were talked out of it via a deal with the Americans. However most of these rumours are unconfirmed. It also transpired that the museum did not open on 4th July although it was originally planned that it should do so. I think for these reasons Mr Bob Dean did not bother to attend. The main theme of the museum now seems to be space, not UFO's. We wait to learn the true facts about just what went on with the museum.- ED]

MW: I have heard that certain disclosures like the museum have been planned in the past, but just at the last minute the information has been withheld. Do you think that there is any possibility then Japanese will delay or change the opening of the museum.

BD: Well there are many rumours in the UFO field. Some have said that the Japanese have issued a sort of ultimatum to the West and stated that if they do not release their information then the Japanese will. We will have to wait and see what transpires with the museum. In government there are two opposable parties. Some of them have wanted for a long time to bring this out, and you are right, they have all come close to point of making an announcement. We have had film which was almost ready to be released. There have been differences of opinion. It is always a struggle in a democratic system.

It is usually a political reason, a national election or something, some event like Vietnam or the Cuban missile crisis. Then they say, no don't release this stuff quite yet - they have got enough to deal with at the moment.

I think that we are close. You only have to look at all the television coverage we have had over the last few years with CBS specials, like the Intruders mini series or the X Files. We have all seen the documentaries. I think that those who are struggling to get this information out, now have the authority and the power but have been through this before and have been disappointed before. I remember as long as twenty years ago - I was waiting for the big announcement and it didn't happen.

MW: You have had some very good evidence to keep you going over the years. Still what other evidence have you had, such as any personal sightings or experiences?

BD: In 1961 whilst I was at Fort Wachuca at the army training ground an object appeared over the west range, one morning early. This was just before the launch of a radio drone carrying cameras television, that sort of thing. The object fairly close to us - about 400 to 500 ft away. It was hovering roughly 100 ft in the air and was bobbing like a boat does on water. It was beautiful. It was reflecting in the morning sun. The "scene theatre light cameras" we were using to track the drone, locked onto this thing automatically. It sat there for about 4 to 5 minutes, then it started moving away at a slow speed, gradually getting faster until it was at an incredible speed. The scene theatre light cameras filmed the whole thing on 35mm colour film.

We had probably had about 10 or 12 minutes of it on film [I presume because of multiple cameras being used - ED] and they scrapped the launch of the Fairchild drone. They wouldn't let any of us off the range that day and none of us got home until 6 o'clock that day. All of us being military, we were debriefed and sworn to secrecy. The film was taken from the camera and was taken to Washington and we never saw it. Many of us, because of the security implications had thought we had seen some Army or Air Force piece of technology.

It didn't dawn on me for some years later, what I had those years earlier. It wasn't until my time at SHAPE and my reading of the Assessment. I didn't realise what I was looking at. I was kind of open minded and innocent of the subject back then.

MW: Can you remember what the date of that would have been and have you investigated the case.

BD: Oh I have a pretty good idea of the time, but I don't know the exact day. It was in the week, in Spring and Arizona gets very hot and most of the early launches would start very early in the morning. I would say it was probably April 1961. I know that there were 60, or so, of us on the range that morning.

MW: But somebody else who saw it may come forward at some time? What about the film?

BD: The film footage, like that, would be in an archive in Washington. Gordon Cooper made the same remark one time. While he was assigned at Edwards Airforce Base, before he was assigned as an astronaut, a UFO came and landed on the runway. They were filming some training exercises. That day there were some landing gear tests going on at Edwards. Edwards is in California. It used to be called Muroc. Gordon Cooper was in the tower that day and the UFO came in and landed. The film crew who were photographing the landing gear tests stopped filing that and started filming the UFO.

It sat there for 6 to 8 minutes. It lifted off and flew away. The got it all. Cooper has said repeatedly that film was taken and zipped away to Washington. Nobody at Edwards Airforce base ever saw it again. Can you imagine the footage that must be available in the archives of my and your country.

MW: Edwards has figured many times in UFO lore as a place which has stored parts of UFOs or whole UFOs. So whereas there was a landing, do you know of any more instances at that base, and whether the military in general has got UFO technology which they are studying or using.

BD: I am sure Edwards is involved. It is one of our main test facilities. I must be frank and say that we have so much hardware in storage in the US, that we are running out of storage space. You have probably heard about the hangers at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, well those hangers filled up some time ago. We have storage facilities at Holloman, we have storage facilities at many others all of the country and all over the world. We are running out of space to store technology which has been retrieved.

There is a massive program which has been going on for many years with your government to re-engineer some of that technology for our own use. A great deal of success has been achieved. US in conjunction with UK are flying recovered alien technology craft at a base in Nevada, not too far from Las Vegas called Area 51, S4, it has a many number of names - they also call it dreamland. There are any number of independent films which have been taken in the area. Even news film has been taken in the area, from NBC as a matter of fact. Saucers and disk are flying over the area.

Now some of the people who have information about the area or have worked there have said that most of this is alien technology which we have re-engineered. We have got US air force pilots flying these saucers. Now I don't know if the stuff we have got is as good as the stuff that they are flying out there - though I doubt it! Still we are doing it, and the evidence is there. It's coming out from such a mass of sources.

So we have one of a few things happening. 1 - we have a group of government officials saying lets tell them the truth. 2 - You have the American researchers and others like yourself who are digging. What a nuisance we must be to them. We are making headway,. The people on the inside who are now coming out to talk, it is making a difference.

There was a case recently whereby a vice president of Lockheed was asked, what are you really doing at there at Area 51. He said with a smirk, "Best I can tell you is that we are dealing with Un Funded Opportunities.

MW: Yes (laughs)

BD: And he said it in kind of a humorous way.

MW: What are you plans for bringing this to the publics attention?

BD: I am a member of an old boys network of approximately 200, and in that group we are retirees of many different areas. This includes Admirals and Generals and Astronauts and we even have some Cosmonauts who have agreed to be part of this network. So we have astronauts like Gordon Cooper, and we are struggling to bring this out. We believe that the United States constitutional process hinges on this honesty. For example, there are things which are occurring in my government that are a total violation of the constitution such as Black Budget projects of 55 Billion dollars a year. That is a total violation of the constitutional process - with no accountability. Congress just gave that away.

This old boys network is starting to bring together an initiative for "Congressional Hearings". This is to try and help save the constitution, which is literally being trashed by a few bureaucrats who don't have any idea what the actual law says. We want open hearings in Congress. We want the doors open so that there can be television coverage of the hearings. We want the evening news on this thing.

We have been making overtures to several members of the House of Representatives and Senate members and we have sort of been demanding in a nice way. We are saying that they need to do it now. We need them to grant us military people exemption from our security oaths, congressional immunity from violating our security oaths, to speak. I have said to them repeatedly that we can fill your conference room with astronauts and cosmonauts and military people as well as scientists. For the first time, the American people will understand what has been going on - what has been happening.

I have told the Senators that the people will be thankful for you being candid enough, honest enough to tell them the truth. So this Congressional hearing we are working on is making some headway.

MW: So what would you recommend people do to find out more.

BD: Well I am always very impressed by the British researchers who are doing work such as yourself and the likes of Busty Taylor [Shucks - ED] but I am especially interested by the work of Timothy Good. He has written the finest work that I feel has ever been published on this subject called "Above Top Secret". I recommend that people read this soon as he is bringing out a follow up to the book which I am sure will also be another essential read.

What is also interesting about his former book is its foreword, which is by a very important man an Admiral of the Fleet, Lord Peter Hill Norton, who I believe was chief of the British Defence Staff for about seven years. The highest number one military position in the British military - equivalent to our Chairman of the Joint Chiefs.

I am always impressed with your work and I am very happy to be here for this reason. I am always interested by your work and was invited to come and am delighted to come, to not only meet with people like yourselves but to share information.

MW: There is a British group known as ORTK (Operation Right To Know) who are trying to get British interest and political movement do you have something similar for groups.

BD: Yes we have underway a project known as the Coalition of UFO Groups which is trying to join the forces of each group. You see we cant do this thing on an individual level, or on a small group level, it has to be one joint effort! Anyone who wishes to join their group to the coalition are welcome to do so. Please write to the address supplied at the end of the video [transcript actually - ED]

When we get these Congressional hearings I would like representatives from all the organisations there to help and support from all over the world.

MW: Well I will try to be there.

There was a initiative put forward on the United Nations agenda in the 70's. It was a numbered agenda initiative to establish a committee in the UN to research this phenomenon. It was not successful then but it is still available to be re-presented and voted on. If I didn't think positively I think I would crawl back home and crawl under a rock. I have got to believe that we will succeed and win out. I not only feel this in a strong spiritual sense but I think the people, damn it, have a right to know the truth! Your people and my people and all those throughout the world do not deserve to be lied to by their governments.

MW: What strikes me as very sad about this whole issue is that all this hidden technology could be put to good uses to solve some of the worlds problems.

BD: We have made some incredible strides in Fusion reaction which were conducted at Los Almos 17 years ago which were never made public. No mess, no fuel rods, free energy for ever. That's only the tip of the iceberg. They have also made particular strides in medicine which they have never told us about. I don't know what the justification is. I know there is a certain amount of greed, whereby a certain amount of people think that they can control this. This is certainly the case in the free energy world whereby those who own the fuel companies do not want this technology to come out. Stop for a moment what would happen to the world economy in a minute, if you were to release free energy devices. The world oil and fuel markets would collapse. Still I resent the fact that information which could be crucial to peoples health and welfare could be denied to them.

MW: What do you think about freedom of information acts?

BD: A lot of the time information is hidden under the banner of "national security". So the freedom of information act, all you need to do is use National Security, and it's useless. We are in this Congressional initiative, proposing a new act called AIR, called the American Information Rights Act, to give the people access to the secrets of their government. We know that dumb mistakes are covered up and they put a security label on them. We need fresh air, fresh AIR!

MW: I understand that you may be writing a book in the future?

BD: Matthew, I have been writing a book for the last 10 years. I have jokingly said that if I would shut up and stay home, I might just get it finished. I had planned to stay home all of 1996 and get it finished. But when I was invited here to talk I just couldn't turn them down. England is home to me in many ways. My family from both sides came from here. I love the people in so many ways that when I am invited I have to come. I spoke in Leeds, I have spoken in Birmingham and I will be speaking in Andover. I am absolutely delighted to meet and co-ordinate with people with yourselves.

The book will be called "The Time Has Come" and it won't just be a look at what I was doing in the services but it will look at the entire event - the whole picture. In my book I can go to cover the history and the present involvement and I am going to discuss what his happening on the planet as I see it. I will be putting in three main chapters - Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow.

The primary interest which I have got now is who are we - where did we come from. That's the primary focus of my book. I will say in this book things that I have never said before and release new information. The thing I want to say is that it's time to wake up and realise that you are more important that you ever thought you were. You are not some galactic accident and there no accident behind it. I want people to start grasping that - the spark, the immortal spark.

MW: I would like to change the tone now slightly if I may and ask the question that some people might be wondering why we haven't mentioned. There is another side to Ufology - that is the intervention by some aliens, into peoples lives, in a way that they consider to be unfriendly or hostile. This has become known under the term "abductions". What is your opinion on why this is happening?

BD: I am concerned about the so called Abduction phenomenon. I look at it as part of this intimate interrelationship. People are involuntarily taken out of their bedrooms at night subjected to experiments. Sometimes they will not remember it at all, sometimes they will begin to remember it slowly. I am concerned about it and do speak out about it.

I ask people to try to speak out about it and not to feel of themselves as victims. I know, however, that people who are taken out of their bedrooms at night - there is a certain feeling of victimisation to this. We still don't know quite what is happening. My wife Cecilia has established a training program to deal with this. She worked with Pima county departments as a witness victim support counsellor. She has taken her skill and training and has applied it to this phenomenon and I believe she is going to be of great help to people who are experiencing these things and contacts. You see, these people can be helped by simply telling them that they are not alone. You don't laugh at them and you don't ridicule them because it is real.

I would like to see Cecilia bring this program to Europe and I know we are already helping many people in America. I think the worst part about this thing is that these people have an experience that they don't know how to deal with - it's unnerving. How do you explain some of these little creatures that you encounter. We listen to what these people have to say. In bringing it out we alleviate the trauma.

We have a web page and email and we don't mind people contacting us by phone or mail. Don't hesitate to call on Cecilia or me if you need help. We have got to extend our arms and our love to these people.

MW: Well it had been a very interesting interview with you and I would like to thank you very much for taking part.

BD: Thank you for asking me, it has been a pleasure.

MUSES OF AN UNDERCOVER ALIEN

By Janice K

Janice is 36 years old and a mother of three children.

She is a lifetime alien abductee and like many others, experiences the phenomenon of Dual Reference (experiencing two realities/existences at once). Her story is especially interesting, as she only recently came forward after suffering 15 years in total isolation. Knowing today that others can relate to her experiences has helped tremendously.

For the past 15 years I have been in conflict with my 'future self' - an extraterrestrial called Ony Colona. During that time I have received much channelling from her in the form of messages, poetry, songs and pictures. The last year has been especially productive, as I decided to give up the battle and allow Ony to assume her place in my everyday life. If only I knew 15 years ago what I know today, I would never have been so fearful in facing her.

I always refused to read or hear of anything related to UFOs and aliens, so as to avoid planting ideas or suggestions into my subconscious mind. I wanted to know that everything I produced was from my own experience. Once I did fear that I must be schizophrenic to have such conflicting thoughts. However, in 1990 my fears lessened after I witnessed a disk-shaped, silver craft travel across a clear blue sky, in the direction of RAF Menwith Hill. This experience prompted me to seek answers instead of blocking the contact. Three years passed before I decided to inform a local ufologist of my sighting.

Upon contacting the ufologist I felt some of my most painful mental anguish as Ony Colona approached with such intensity. It took a further three years before Ony and I were able to coexist in comfort, sharing both this mind and body.

Because Ony Colona is a member of the race called Essassani (a colony of Terran-Reticulan hybrids which in the future settle on a planet in the constellation of Orion), earthly humour allows me to relate my alien experiences in a light-hearted manner. There are so many 'UFO abductees' who are fearful of their experiences, with little cause as the ETs generally mean them no harm. The Reticulans just have a strange way of showing they care, having lost their emotions.

The human soul is a wonderful experience, but through neglect many of us have lost purpose and direction, feeling abandoned and alone. In truth we are not alone, we are One. Meditation combined with pure thought and diet can awaken the sleeping forces so unique to the human race. This is what the Reticulans find so fascinating, and in their emotionless state need to rediscover their own spirituality. Hence one reason for the experiments in hybrid creation.

Like many of those on Earth, my physical body is changing through no effort of myself. Its DNA is developing and the barrier that blocked my memories of the future is dissolving. My body is healing itself, after suffering abuse for many years as a consequence of eating foods manufactured by the unenlightened. Sadly, society continues to be poisoned through lack of proper nutrition.

UNCONDITIONAL LOVE

What can the Reticulans offer us if we are basically an envied race? Direction, oneness, knowledge of what may happen if we continue on our present course of self-destruction. Other qualities that need to be found are spirituality and unconditional love.

In the future the Reticulans will succeed in the hybrid experiment. This is not to be feared, as the new beings will give us much guidance and love; since we are a part of their parentage.

I have a hybrid daughter called Zaffra, who lives not on Earth but in a dimension of light. She is pure Essassani, and may be the mother or grandmother of my future self, Ony Colona. Incredibly, Zaffra is both my child and progenitor. Time certainly is meaningless in quantum space.

NEGATIVE GREYS

I cannot talk about Ony Colona with anyone I meet; their spirit has to feel right. We could be in danger from those afraid of change. Such as the Government, who have been manipulated and misinformed by the negative Greys and those people who contain Grey souls.

This world is soon to become a very beautiful place, not only to the eye but to the spirit of man and all other beings. True love will abound, and harmony between all things - not only living but the elements and minerals as well. Our bodies are a combination of all substance found upon Earth and in the stars.

Once I remember being a supernova looking down upon the Earth. As I exploded into a million tiny fragments, I was filled with peace and overwhelming joy. I knew I was still alive, continuing on the journey of knowledge, experience and ultimately the becoming of unconditional love.

I feel the need to come forward now with my channellings and experiences. It will be a hopeful message for the many lost souls out there. Below is something I wrote in December 1989, before 'coming out of the closet' as I did one year ago.

You may think it strange for me to sit here and tell you I am an alien, but far more strange to tell you that we are all aliens to what we thought was our own planet. How could it be our planet when we treat it with such contempt, hatred and thoughtlessness? To see wild animals in cages being tortured for beauty's sake; whole forests killed to produce toys for the wealthy; deserts expanding until they meet each other in a dry sad union.

Sometimes I wonder if I think too much, or maybe not enough. We all have the power to change what is going on, but how could it happen in the first place? God is not dead, Mother Nature is not in the menopause, Old Father Time has not gone senile. These figureheads are all in our minds as scapegoats: "Oh God, how could He let this happen?" "A natural phenomenon." "I'm too old to care." All these are pathetic excuses to shift the blame.

We are in charge of our own lives and minds, so why do we use them so little? Because most of us are not being shown the way. Why has our Creator seemingly abandoned us for so long?

OVERACTIVE IMAGINATION

For years I have known of a place in the recess of my mind. I have always wanted to go 'Home', but never quite knew where this place was or how to get there. An 'overactive imagination' maybe, or could it be natural instinct - like the salmon attempting to return from where it came? How many of us cannot cope with the lives we have because we feel entombed in falsehoods and lies? How many people talk of 'finding themselves'. We are as sad a case as the animals we cage - we also cannot escape.

I have another self: Ony Colona is her name. I would like to tell you of her, but know not how - my words are futile. I shall make contact through mind unification...

I feel distant, looking from above. What long arms I seem to have. The mind reaches out for miles, far far away where floating spirits play with musical rivers and chiming stars. I feel Ony is entering. I am sick with excitement and cannot move.

"My world is your world, we are mirrors. We care for you - you are our children, you are our parents. Time has become one, it has no meaning. Time is an obstacle created by man. Our failing stars were a warning, we must guide you to save ourselves. All this destruction is meaningless; all the degradation of man. The dictators who suppress must go. The pollution is in your bodies, you die so young. The food chain is destructive, it is poisoning your children. Help yourselves, we will point the way. You choose your destiny, you decide your lives. Free yourselves, go with your instincts. Stop and feel the way with your souls..."

I am alone but not afraid. There were times I would cry out in anguish with outstretched arms, "Please take me back, don't leave me here!" But they did not come and I knew they were there, just out of sight. Sometimes I would receive guidance through a sign, an object in a coffee bar, a spoken word from a stranger. I felt so alone and so different; I knew something that no-one else bothered to feel. They would laugh and buy me a drink to dull my senses. I nearly died but Ony Colona honoured me with a brief visit. She showed me the road out of hell.

"Pull yourself together," said my parents. How could they not know? They were too busy trying find out like many others, who they really were. I decided to keep busy to free myself of my anguished thoughts. "Don't think, be happy" became my mantra. The less I thought too deeply, the happier I became; but all the time under the surface I felt unease growing. I knew one day I would have to face myself and come to terms with my feelings. It took me three years to become strong, to have confidence in myself and the way my mind worked. I was no longer afraid of what I might find inside. I no longer feared that something would emerge that I couldn't control.

At the conception of my first child, I knew he was to be my saviour. With him being an extension of myself, it would give me greater power. I had an ally, someone who knew my thoughts the moment they happened. We sleep at different times, but awake at exactly the same minute. With each child I have, my powers will be strengthened. Where can it lead ultimately? My children will have children, I will grow, their knowledge will grow... is this the transition from one species to the next? Will the human being as we know it, become the future missing link?

I have not forsaken my roots - I know who I am. My child is only three years old and has always known where he is from. He is a moonchild: "moon" and "stars" were among the first words he spoke. His eyes sparkle with knowledge long forgotten by those far older. Are we made to forget on purpose, to help us through our lives on Earth?

"Our destiny isn't mapped out for us," a stranger once said to me as she sat by my side in a coffee bar. "There are several roads to take."

Was the woman insane? Was I insane? Or were we the only ones who knew? Part of our purpose on Earth is to help others to understand and lead better lives. The more we help others, the closer we are to the truth and our Creator.

"Don't kill the Earth, it is the only one you've got. Treat it with care, it will look after you and teach you all the secrets of ancient civilisations, modern cultures, future hopes and aspirations."

ABANDONED

I have stopped hoping to return Home. I no longer gaze into the sky wondering why I have been abandoned, and hating everyone for holding me down. I now see a radiant light at the edge of my mind containing Ony Colona with her partner and two small children. We are mirrors of one other... I must either be pregnant or due to conceive soon.

Menwith Hill Tracking & NSA Listening Station.

I look into the future and I see myself at eighty years old with children at my feet, telling stories. My son has beautiful children with hair the colour of golden corn and eyes as dark as the rich earth beneath our feet. I see lands luscious green, animals free, and faces happy.

Everyday I meet new people and some have the 'look'. I know gradually the knowledge is filtering through. People are becoming more aware of natural habitats. The Earth will die in parts, but through this more will be learned. It is not a bad thing.

Out of the ashes will ascend a beautiful jewel beyond compare, something so amazing it will take your breath away. A crystal vision that reflects thoughts like a kaleidoscope multiplying, twisting and atomising. Casting glorious dimensions which we may pass through and return; our minds bursting with excitement and realisation. It will be the ultimate answer to the infinite question. All peoples before found the answer only when they passed on, but with this vision we can return renewed, regenerated, re-enlightened, and be content with our lives on Earth for the duration of our time.

At night we sleep and visit places barred to us in waking life. We can perform unbelievable feats of magic because we are asleep. We relax and let the vibrations flow through our bodies. The magnetism of the Earth reacts with our souls and gives us the powers we possess at all times but refuse to acknowledge. We all have the power to heal and to help one another. We all have experiences to share, to make life easier for others. So why pity ourselves? Our lives are our own creations. Make sure the problems you have are not of your own making in any possible way and they will disappear. Negative thoughts are destructive, while positive thoughts are creative.

Last night I found it hard to sleep. My mind was so active and I felt an overwhelming surge of energy radiating from my palms. "Is this the calling?" I thought. Was I prepared to go now and leave everything I had on Earth? My answer was yes, but maybe in my heart I would have wanted to return to my child - and so here I remain still. Captive of my own making like so many others. There are times when my palms burn with such power, especially when I am close to someone suffering illness in their mind or body.

CALMING WATERS

Perhaps as I mature I feel more at ease with the world, but never fail to marvel at some of its achievements as if seen through the eyes of a child. A child sees the truth and sometimes I cry with a sense of helplessness - feeling so small in such a large place. But my knowledge of centuries past grows each year to be passed down genetically. I no longer scream inside, as the calming waters of a far-off land wash through my body.

And who will listen to me? All those who don't give a damn will carry on and destroy themselves. It happens all the time in evolution: the unsuitable don't survive and compatibility reigns. We are changing and soon the Earth will be our own. Those of us with alien souls and developed minds will become custodians of the new world.

Late NEWS

By Matthew Williams

Recently whilst at the Public Record Office in Kew, searching through the released government file on UFOs, two letters were found. One was from Project Bluebook to the MOD, the other was the MOD reply back to Project Bluebook. The Letters read as follows:

Dept Of Air Force Washington 5-6-1965

In keeping with the Air Force role for the air defense of our country, we are responsible for investigation of Unidentified Flying Objects (UFOs) reported in the skies over the United States. The name of this program which is governed by Air Force regulation 200-2 is Project Blue Book. A copy of the current report on this project and a copy of the regulation governing the program are attached for your information.

We are interested in obtaining the following information on British UFO activity:

- Do you Have a Government Program comparable to our project Bluebook?
- If so do you have a scientific consultant.?
- Are there civilian organisations in your country dedicated to the study of UFOs?
- How much UFO activity do you have in your country?

The Air Force scientific consultant to Project Bluebook is Doctor J Allen Hynek, is planning a trip to London in September. While he is there he would like to discuss the subject with you.

John F Spaulding , Lt Col USAF.

THE REPLY FROM THE MOD

Dated 24 June 1965

Mr Langton has shown us your letter of the 15th June about Project Blue Book. In the United Kingdom the Air Force Department of the Ministry Of Defence has the primary responsibility for investigating reports of UFOs, and the reasons for the allocation of this responsibility are exactly the same reasons as in your case.

We investigate every case reported to us, and we use every assistance, civilian as well as military, available to us to identify a particular object. For example, we have frequently used the resources of Kodak Ltd, to examine photographs, films and equipment submitted to us. We do not, however, maintain a special scientific staff for this purpose. It is normally handled as part of our Air Force Technical Intelligence department. Unlike you however, we do investigate single observer sightings. Our results, in some 90% of cases investigated, we are able to make a positive rational identification, in 10% we are unable to do so because of insufficient data, and in no case have we unearthed any evidence of extra-terrestrial origin.

Our policy is to play down the subject of UFOs to avoid attaching undue attention or publicity to it. As a result, we have never had any serious political pressure to mount a large scale investigation such as Project Blue Book. Indeed the matter has been raised only once in Parliament in the last 5 or 6 years, and then in only a perfunctory way.

- No
- No
- Yes, a considerable number
- We investigate about 70 cases a year but there are other which are not reported to us, although sometimes reported in the newspapers.

We should be happy to discuss this matter with Dr Hynek when he comes to London and no doubt you will let us know in due course when he will be here.

NO NAME, SIGNATURE, OR DEPT details were attached.

What we at Truthseekers want to know is how the hell can a military body such as the MOD justify it's actions in withholding or playing down UFO information from the public for any means. The MOD admit that the real reason for this playing down was to avoid political pressure from the media and public. It is forbidden for a department to take such action like this without mandate or directives from government to begin with. To do so would mean that the department is not following governmental policy and is not in line with civil service guidelines.

I think it is downright reckless and bordering criminal for the MOD to take this line. They have no right to keep UFO information away from the media or public nor to play it down. Using it as a tactic to alleviate departmental pressures goes against democracy and is outright disgusting. If the job is there and is supposed to be performed then perform it, and stop interfering, I say.

Whoever at the MOD made these decisions must be brought to question and answer for their incredible negligent and reckless actions. This should now constitute a review of current policy and I feel we are entitled to a response from the MOD as to it's current policy on the subject. Moves are underway to secure such a statement.

Sightings provoked scrambles. (Update to Newsdesk Article "UFOs a Flight of Fancy" in issue 9)

This update article which clarified a few points was sent to us by Mr Nick Pope.

I was interested to see the article on the MOD's handling of the UFO mystery which appeared in Issue 896 (RAF NEWS),

When I Worked in Secretariat (Air Staff) 2a in the early 90s I found that although many UFO sightings could be explained, there was a hard core of sightings that defied any conventional explanation. These included a number of cases where visual sightings were backed up by radar evidence.

The RAF's involvement with this subject goes back to at least the 1940s and I have come across some fascinating accounts of air craft being scrambled to intercept UFOs.

Some of these incidents are detailed in files available in the Public Record Office in Kew. Although many RAF aircrew have given me details of their own spectacular encounters, very few of them have ever made an official report.

Perhaps readers of RAF News have some stories which would make interesting reading? N G POPE - MOD.
